

Nancy Wang Bio

Executive Director Nancy Wang was a law professor at the University of Michigan when she became a founding member of Voters Not Politicians. She led the team of volunteers that surveyed voters, researched redistricting processes across the country, and worked with national experts to write the constitutional amendment language that established the Michigan Independent Citizens Redistricting Commission. She now brings broad policy expertise and a passion for citizen-driven democracy reform to her role at the helm of the Voters Not Politicians family of organizations.
