PORT PIER 27

Ana Teresa Fernandez Mareas

“Art Proposal for the Pier 27 Cruise Terminal Public Art Project”

Mareas is a visual, vibrant and experiential gateway unto the port of San Francisco.

Mareas, meaning tides in Spanish, depicts the daily dance between light, color, and form, as it casts a wave of blues across the esplanade. This colorful cascade ascends and descends along with the sun’s journey from East to West across the Bay. Mareas is an invitation to have an intimate moment of reflection amidst the vastness of the port and Bay; a memorable connection to this space.

Mareas is composed of seven different tones of blues, vibrating throughout the composition horizontally instead of vertically. The number of colors is a direct relationship to the seven colors in a rainbow, and the exchange of light, water and wavelengths. The color forms are polycarbonate pieces that will be attached to stainless steel frames giving rise to a 12 foot archway, allowing for an ADA compliant experience to all visitors.

When you step onto the esplanade at the cruise terminal embankment you are met with a city-scape that has at least three phallic forms framed within its composition; Coit Tower, Salesforce Tower and the Transamerica Pyramid. Mareas is the disruptor and addition to diversity in form. San Francisco has collected a surplus of phallic structures. Mareas would be the Bay Area’s first iconic and colorful archway.

THOSE WHO CARRY WATER

An art proposal by Walter Kitundu for the San Francisco Water Department at 2000 Marin Street

"The water we drink, like the air we breathe, is not a part of our body, but is our body.
What we do to one - to the body,
to the water - we do to the other."
~ Natalie Diaz

Those Who Carry Water is a site specific portrait of the water system, the people who sustain it, and the community through which the water flows. The images will be made of architectural float glass panels with brilliant enamel colors. Every image will be made from photographs of water taken at locations in the system managed or made possible by the SFPUC. From Hetch Hetchy to powerhouses, from public pools to treatment plants, Kitundu will photograph those who care for water systems, as well as the people of Bayview, whose silhouettes will appear in the glass.

The artist will be in conversation with Bayview residents and SFPUC employees to learn about their relationships with water and the water system. He will be joined in this story gathering work by long-time collaborator and member of the Bayview community, choreographer Joanna Haigood. They will develop an aerial dance performance for the opening of the new building to spectacularly bring the water stories of Bayview residents to life.

The idea of carrying water is an expansive way to think about our relationships with it. We carry it everyday in our cells and bones. So do the fish, birds, elk, and mountain lions of California. The SFPUC has shaped the land to carry water in the form of reservoirs. That water is sent through pipes to generate power and sustain a population that wouldn't be possible without the systems that carry water. This artwork is a monument to the truth that we are water and water is us. We have a responsibility to care for what we carry, to honor the central role it plays in our lives, without taking our easy access to it for granted. This artwork explores, honors, and shines a light on the many ways we carry water.

Selected lines from the stories we receive will adorn the images inside the garage, creating an interior poem weaving together ideas from multiple communities.

We Are Of This Land; We Are The Land! As stewards of our ancestral homeland, we care for the earth and all the living creatures and plant life on it. One cannot exist without the other. The San Francisco Bay Area was an oasis where our people thrived for thousands of years. Today, we continue in our traditional ways, speak our native languages, share our knowledge, and protect the ecology. The land keeps us alive. We protect and care for it, and pass on that responsibility to the next generation. We Are Still Here! Mākkin Mak.Nommo!

CAPITAL BUDGET ALLOCATIONS CIVIC ART COLLECTION FY2000-FY2024

CAPITAL BUDGET ALLOCATIONS CIVIC ART COLLECTION

Collections Total Need: Calculated over a 10-year period (as reported to the Controller and based on calculations using our Cost Modeling System) our total need is approximately $2.0 Million annually.

Average CPC Project Funding: Detailed in the chart above. Our need historically exceeds our allocation. As of February 2020, staff anticipated total CPC funding at $936,227 for FY21. As a result of the city's budget deficit due to the pandemic, actual total CPC funding was $111,227 for FY21. Our total estimated impact to the collections budget through FY24 is -$2,340,506 as a result of pandemic related shortfalls.

FY25 Capital Funding: Staff currently worked closely with the Office of Resilience and Capital Planning, to build awareness around the value of restoring previous funding levels and right size future allocations. Staff was successful in securing a right sized allocation for FY25, a significant accomplishment in a year when the city faces a budget deficit.
