III. The San Francisco Workforce System

San Francisco’s local Workforce Investment Board (the WISF) envisions a workforce development system that is the bridge between employers and job seekers and that follows a dual-customer approach, ensuring that workforce development programs and services are tailored to the needs of job seekers and provide a skilled and ready workforce for local businesses. In order to ensure that job seekers and local businesses are well served, and to meet performance accountability goals based on WIOA performance indicators, the WISF and its WIOA partners and other stakeholders are committed to working together to serve San Francisco’s employers and job seekers.

The San Francisco workforce development system is designed to be accessible to diverse job seekers and employers through a network of AJCCs and other partner services hubs. Each partner plays an important role within San Francisco’s workforce system, customizing services and facilitating access to residents of target neighborhoods, job seekers with barriers to employment, and those seeking to enter or advance in a specific industry sector.

AJCCs, Access Points, and Partner Service Hubs

San Francisco has one comprehensive AJCC, located in downtown San Francisco. The Comprehensive AJCC, the Comprehensive Job Center (CJC), is operated by Goodwill Industries of San Francisco, San Mateo and Marin Counties. Additionally, the WISF has also certified two affiliate AJCCs: The Visitacion Valley Job Center which is operated by Family and Child Empowerment Services – San Francisco (FACES SF) and The Chinatown Job Center, operated by Self Help for the Elderly.

In addition to the three AJCCs in San Francisco, clients are served by the broad coalition of WIOA and other workforce and training partners through additional hubs such as:

- The San Francisco Office of Economic and Workforce Development’s network of fifteen Neighborhood and Specialized Job Centers
- City College of San Francisco’s ten locations throughout the city as well as its new Virtual Campus
- The California Employment Development Department’s Workforce Services Office at 801 Turk St
- The San Francisco Human Services Agency’s Workforce Development Centers at 3120 Mission Street and 1800 Oakdale, and its Employment Information Center at 170 Otis Street.
- The Department of Rehabilitation’s offices at 455 Golden Gate Avenue, Suite 7727

In order to leverage the many workforce, education, and training service providers and partners operating in San Francisco, the WIOA partners team strives to build a system where there is no “wrong door.” The partners have been working since the signing of WIOA (and before) to develop a methods and processes for seamless, coordinated referrals and follow up.

The AJCC partner commits to continuing working with the team to build systems, processes, and communication networks that support the partners shared goal of “successful” customer referrals. A successful referral is one in which the customer is eligible and prepared, and which are most appropriate to their goals, abilities and needs, based on the results of assessment(s).

4. A description of the process to be used among partners to resolve issues during the MOU duration period when consensus cannot be reached.

n/a

5. The state is in the process of implementing the requisite statewide data tracking system, and once such data are available, all non-colocated partners who are receiving benefit from the AJCCs will also be required to contribute their proportionate share towards infrastructure costs. Consequently, the MOU must include an assurance from all non-colocated partners that they agree to pay their proportionate share of infrastructure costs as soon as sufficient data are available.

By signing below, all parties agree that when data are available to determine the AJCC benefit to non-colocated partners, the infrastructure cost sharing agreement will be renegotiated to include their proportionate share of contributions.
