For example, these bonds have been used to construct museums, police stations, jails, libraries, and other public facilities. A two-thirds majority of the voters must approve the sale of general obligation bonds. Once they are approved and sold, they are repaid by property taxes.

LEASE FINANCING (PROPOSITION D) — Cities and local governments make improvements to buildings and land by: 1) paying for them all at once; or 2) leasing them until paid for. The second method is called "lease financing." When using lease financing, cities usually create a nonprofit corporation. The nonprofit corporation borrows money to buy the building or property. Cities then lease the building or property from the nonprofit corporation. The lease payments received by the nonprofit corporation are used to repay the borrowed money. Under local law, voter approval is required before San Francisco may use lease financing to pay for improvements to buildings and land.

PRINCIPAL (PROPOSITIONS A,B,C,D) — The actual amount of borrowed money. Principal does not include interest charges.

PROPOSITION (PROPOSITIONS A,B,C,D,E,F) — A proposition is the same as a Ballot Measure.

REVENUE BOND (PROPOSITION E) — If the City needs money to pay for something, such as a sewer line or convention hall, the City may borrow the money by selling bonds. The City pays back the money with interest. The money to pay back Revenue Bonds comes from revenue such as fees collected by the department which issued the bonds. These bonds are not paid for with tax money.

ZONING (PROPOSITION F) — The City is divided into sections for different purposes, such as housing, business, playgrounds, etc., called zoning. Property in an area can only be used for the purpose for which it is zoned.

GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS (PROPOSITIONS A, B) — These bonds are used to pay for large public projects that do not raise revenue. For example, these bonds have been used to construct museums, police stations, jails, libraries, and other public facilities. A two-thirds majority of the voters must approve the sale of general obligation bonds. Once they are approved and sold, they are repaid by property taxes.

LOW-INCOME (PROPOSITION A) — A household of four persons whose combined income does not exceed $36,780 annually.

MODERATE-INCOME (PROPOSITION A) — A household of four persons whose combined income does not exceed $61,300 annually.
