

Meet the 2022-2023 EMS and Disaster Medicine Fellows!

Kristen Bascombe is originally from Savannah, GA. She completed residency in Emergency Medicine at Emory University in Atlanta, GA, during which she gained exposure to Mobile Integrated Health as a means for addressing health disparities and over utilization of emergency resources. This experience, alongside many others, inspired Kristen to pursue a career in EMS. She is one of the EMS and Disaster Medicine Fellows at UCSF. She looks forward to engaging in Community Paramedicine initiatives, health disparities research, and quality improvement in the pre-hospital setting. She is grateful for the opportunity to further her training in San Francisco.

Samantha Williams is originally from Long Island, NY where she grew up with a family of first responders (mom-Paramedic, grandfather-Fire Chief/Paramedic, uncle-Police). She was drawn to emergency and pre-hospital medicine and attended medical school in New York City. She then came to California to complete residency at the UCSF-Fresno campus. She is one of the UCSF EMS/Disaster Medicine Fellows. She is interested in medical education and training, behavioral emergencies, and the role of EMS in wilderness medicine.
