New Business

Department of Public Health

Presenter: Max Gara

1. AB 2258 (Reyes) Doula care: Medi-Cal pilot program

Recommended Position: Support

The bill would support efforts to address maternal-child health inequities by requiring Medi-Cal to pilot full-spectrum doula care as a fully covered benefit for 3 years in the 14 California counties that have the highest number of Black births, including San Francisco.

2. SB 855 (Wiener): Health coverage: mental health or substance abuse disorders

Recommended Position: Support

This bill would improve access to behavioral health services by requiring insurance companies to cover all medically necessary mental health care and substance use disorder treatments, not just emergency crisis care.

3. SB 888 (Wiener): Substance use disorder services: contingency management services

Recommended Position: Sponsor

This bill seeks to address the increase in methamphetamine use and overdose deaths by expanding substance use disorder treatment options covered under Medi-Cal by requiring Medi-Cal to pay for contingency management.

4. SB 932 (Wiener): HIV counselors

Recommended Position: Support

This bill aims to address the major increase in syphilis infections by allowing HIV counselors to perform rapid testing for syphilis in addition to testing counselors are already allowed to provide for HIV and hepatitis C virus (HCV). The bill would also allow HIV counselors to receive HIV counseling training through a course that has been certified by the Office of AIDS.

V. GENERAL PUBLIC COMMENT

Members of the public may address the Committee on items of interest that are within the Committee's subject matter jurisdiction and that do not appear on the agenda.

VI. ADJOURNMENT

Disability Access

AB 2258

Assemblymember Reyes, District 47, Democrat Doula care: Medi-Cal pilot program

Recommended Position

- X SUPPORT
- □ SUPPORT if amended
- □ OPPOSE
- □ OTHER & Describe

Summary

The bill would support efforts to address maternal-child health inequities by requiring Medi-Cal to pilot full-spectrum doula care as a fully covered benefit for 3 years in the 14 California counties that have the highest number of Black births, including San Francisco.

Background/Analysis

The United States has the highest maternal mortality rate in the developed world. For women of color, particularly Black women, the maternal mortality rate remains three to four times higher than White women. Black women make up 5 percent of the pregnancy cohort in California, but 21 percent of the pregnancy-related deaths. In San Francisco, the preterm birth rate (a leading cause of infant mortality) is nearly twice as high among Black women as it is for White women.¹

Even though Black and Pacific Islander women have the highest rates of prenatal morbidity in San Francisco, women from these communities are the least likely to seek prenatal care.² Recent research of Black women conducted in San Francisco and other Bay Area counties reveal that these health outcomes are largely due to structural racism and racist experiences in the clinical setting, as most women from these communities felt disrespected, stereotyped, and coerced throughout their maternity care interactions.3 One strategy to address these inequities is provide doula care, which is a proven method of improving outcomes for women having babies; however, few of the women facing the greatest risk can access doulas due to socioeconomic barriers.

A doula is a non-medical birth worker who provides education, advocacy, and support for women during pregnancy, birth, abortion, and miscarriage. Doulas do not stand in for or replace the care of medical providers such as OB/GYN doctors, nurses, and/or midwives. Rather, they enhance routine prenatal care for pregnant and postpartum women by providing social and emotional support, individualized and culturally specific education, and strategies to reduce stress and other barriers to healthy pregnancies.⁴ Numerous studies demonstrate that doulas can reduce the impacts of racism and racial bias in health care on pregnant women of color by providing individually tailored, culturally appropriate, and patient centered care and advocacy. Women receiving doula care have been found to have improved health outcomes for themselves and their infants, including higher breastfeeding initiation rates, fewer low birthweight babies, and lower rates of cesarean sections.

Challenge

While doula care offers tremendous benefit for women experiencing marginalization and risk of adverse birth outcomes, including women of color, immigrant women, and low-income women, they often cannot afford to pay out of pocket for doula care.

Solution/Recommended Proposal

The bill would support efforts to address maternal and birth health inequities by requiring Medi-Cal to pilot full-spectrum doula care as a fully covered benefit for 3 years in the 14 California counties that have the highest number of Black births: Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Sacramento, San Diego, Alameda, Riverside, Contra Costa, Kern, Fresno, San Joaquin, Solano, Orange, Santa Clara, and San Francisco. Doulas will be able to bill Medi-Cal for prenatal care, care during labor and delivery, postpartum care, and additional services that encompass a broader and more holistic vision of support for the pregnant person. Additionally, the bill would require DHCS to convene a Doula Advisory Board to create a list of core competencies required for doulas who provide services under Medi-Cal.

Departments Impacted & Why

This bill will allow the Department of Public Health to offer an additional valuable benefit to its pregnant patients. San Francisco DPH helped to launch a community doula program (SisterWeb) in 2017. Currently, SisterWeb can offer free doula services to low income residents through grant funding. The passage of this bill will ensure the long-term sustainability of this important program once the grants have expired. San Francisco Health Plan will be required to provide educational materials about the availability of doulas to eligible clients.

Fiscal Impact

City Fiscal Impact: It is unclear how the bill will impact the city's general fund. There is ample research that demonstrates the cost of poor maternal and birth outcomes to our system. Interventions that mitigate these outcomes can have a significant return on investment.

State General Fund: While a statewide fiscal impact analysis has not been conducted, it is likely to result in costs to the State's General Fund.

SB 855

□ OTHER & Describe

Summary

SB 855 would improve access to behavioral health services by requiring insurance companies to cover all medically necessary mental health care and substance use disorder treatments, not just emergency crisis care.

Background/Analysis

Mental health and substance use disorders (SUD) are significant issues in San Francisco and across California. In 2017, 35.9 percent of adults surveyed in San Francisco reported needing help for mental health or substance use issues. In 2018, 34 percent of adults in California a serious mental health diagnosis have a co-occurring SUD diagnosis. 2

Similar to physical health care, behavioral health care is provided by public and private systems and insurance plans. Most San Franciscans have private health insurance (employer sponsored, individual market). In 2017, an estimated 662,633 San Francisco residents, or 75.3 percent of the

While federal and state law require health plans to cover a broader scope of mental health benefits than would be required by otherwise, there continues to be issues with access to mental health and substance disorder services among the privately insured. For example- California's parity law, the California Parity Act (1999), requires insurance companies to fund emergency population, had private insurance. Overall, an estimated 96.7 percent of residents received some form of health insurance coverage in 2018. Despite these high rates of health coverage, there can still be barriers for residents to accessing services and treatment. Barriers include lack of available treatment providers or programs, inability to pay for treatment, and lack of behavioral health parity. Behavioral health parity refers to health insurance with coverage of mental health and substance use disorder care that is offered on an equal basis as coverage of physical health care, including medical and surgical benefits. Historically, health plans have covered treatment for mental health and SUD conditions differently than treatment for physical conditions, often making behavioral health benefits substantially less generous than benefits for physical health conditions.

² California Health Care Almanac: Substance Use in California: A Look at Addiction and Treatment, California; Health Care Foundation, October 2018, www.chcf.org;

mental health services. The Act, though, does not apply to all mental health conditions nor to any SUDs, leaving out many behavioral health conditions. Additionally, the lack of a definition for "medically necessary treatment" has created ambiguity about what plans will cover. Plans commonly use level of care criteria that wrongly denies needed coverage. Therefore people with insurance must often experience a full mental health crisis before receiving care.

Solution/Recommended Proposal

In order to improve and expand access to behavioral health treatment for those with private insurance, SB 855 would:

- Require health insurance plans to provide coverage for the diagnosis and medically necessary treatment of mental health and substance use disorders, as specified, under the same terms and conditions applied to other medical conditions.
- Prohibit health plans from limiting benefits or coverage for behavioral health conditions to short- term or acute treatment
- Require health plans to immediately cover services out-of-network at innetwork rates if the required services are not available.

Overall, this bill will require private health insurance companies to provide significantly broader access to behavioral health care, giving people living with mental illness and substance use disorder the ability to access treatment sooner and receive the support they need.

Departments Impacted & Why

San Francisco Department of Public Health (DPH) would not be directly impacted by this bill, as it does not apply to County Behavioral Health or Medi-Cal plans.

The bill would likely reduce private patients' utilization of SFDPH's behavioral health system (BHS). Most privately insured clients enter BHS through higher acuity settings (e.g. PES, inpatient psychiatric, and ADU). While DPH attempts to navigate these patients back into the private system, there can be challenges, including:

- Private plan may disagree with DPH's BHS assessment that individual needs high level of care;
- Individual may be under-insured, and private plan may not cover service (ex. limited residential treatment coverage);
- Private plans may provide coverage, but not have agreements with providers that allow patients to access care.

This bill would address these issues by increasing access to lower levels of care for private payor patients that can prevent behavioral health conditions from worsening into a crisis, and ensuring that when private patients enter DPH's system of care, they can be transitioned back into the private system and receive access to the services they need.

The bill would likely also strengthen the future efforts of the Office of Private Insurance Accountability, one of the measures included in Mental Health SF. The Office will advocate for insured people with mental illness to make sure that they receive the care to which they are legally entitled.

Fiscal Impact

Potential cost savings to SFDPH if there is decreased utilization of crisis services by private clients.

SB 888

Senator Wiener; District 11, Democrat Substance use disorder services: contingency management services

Recommended Position x SPONSOR SUPPORT SUPPORT if amended OPPOSE OTHER & Describe

Summary

SB 888 seeks to address the increase in methamphetamine use and overdose deaths by expanding substance use disorder treatment options covered under Medi-Cal by requiring Medi-Cal to pay for contingency management.

Background/Analysis

San Francisco is experiencing a significant rise in the number of individuals using methamphetamine, resulting in health- and social-related impacts. Since 2008, meth overdose deaths in San Francisco have increased by 500 percent. Additionally, 50 percent of psychiatric emergency room admissions at Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital are now meth-related.

Currently, there are no FDA-approved medications for the treatment of methamphetamine use disorder, unlike with opioids where treatment options such as methadone are available. An evidence-based practice that is available to help people with meth addiction is contingency management (CM). CM is the practice of reinforcing desired behaviors through incentives. CM can be applied in a wide range of treatment contexts for enhancing retention in treatment and decreasing drug use – for not only individuals with a primary SUD diagnosis, but also for individuals diagnosed with mental illness and a substance use disorder.

CM is currently being used by the U.S Department of Veterans Affairs, and by San Francisco Department of Public Health's Behavioral Health Services' community partners to treat clients.

Challenge

Currently, CM is not recognized as an evidence-based practice under Medi-Cal, and regulations prevent CM from being eligible for reimbursement under the program. These barriers limit access to Medi-Cal clients with substance use disorders to this treatment.

Solution/Recommended Proposal

SB 888 would expand substance use disorder treatment options covered under Medi-Cal, requiring Medi-Cal to pay for CM. In addition, the bill would:

- Require Department of Health Care Services (DHCS) to issue guidance and training to providers on their use of CM services
- Exclude CM from the prohibition of gifts under Medi-Cal, as specified under

- Section 51478 of Title 22 of the California Code of Regulations.
- Provisions of bill would be contingent on funds allocated under the annual Budget Act, and receiving federal financial participation.

The Methamphetamine Task Force, convened in response to growing meth use in the City, identified expanding the use of CM as a key strategy to reduce the medical and social impacts of meth use on San Francisco.

Departments Impacted & Why

San Francisco Department of Public Health would be positively impacted by the bill, which would allow for an important treatment option Meth-related SUDs to be reimbursed under Medi-Cal. Further, Medi-Cal insured clients will have access to treatment options that best fit their needs

Fiscal Impact

These changes could potentially reduce costs to the City by increasing reimbursement opportunities from the state.

SB 932 Senator Wiener, District 11, Democrat HIV counselors

Recommended Position

 $\hfill \square$ SUPPORT if amended

□ OTHER & Describe

Summary

SB 932 aims to address the major increase in syphilis infections by allowing HIV counselors to perform rapid testing for syphilis in addition to testing counselors are already allowed to provide for HIV and hepatitis C virus (HCV). The bill would also allow HIV counselors to receive HIV counseling training through a course that has been certified by the Office of AIDS.

Background/Analysis

According to the CDC, new STI infections are increasing in all parts of California, with the highest rates occurring among young people ages 15-24, people of color, and gay and bisexual men, and other men who have sex with men. In San Francisco. syphilis cases have also increased, with data showing that monthly that there were 1,749 cases in the first 11 months of 2019 as compared to 1,552 in the first 11 months of 2018.

Rapid testing is a key strategy for providing better care for patients and reduce the rates of infection and transmission of STIs. In 2014, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved a rapid test for syphilis, which produces a result in approximately 10 minutes.

Challenge

San Francisco has a comprehensive HIV Counselor training program that has been certified by the California Department of Public Health Office of AIDS. The training includes training on conducting a skin puncture and the process of running test that have been CLIA waived by the FDA. The City currently has approximately 200 test counselors that are actively providing tests to the community.

California law currently only allows trained Counselors to perform a perform HIV, hepatitis C virus (HCV), or combined HIV/HCV tests. This limits the health department from offering the approved rapid test for syphilis in community-based settings.

Solution/Recommended Proposal

SB 932 would extend current law to allow HIV Counselors to perform the rapid test for syphilis and other future test that are created and approved by the FDA. The bill would also allow HIV counselors to undergo an HIV counseling training course that has been certified by the Office of AIDS.

Departments Impacted & Why

The bill would positively San Francisco
Department of Public Health by allowing HIV counselors to conduct rapid testing for a wider array of STIs, and better meet the needs of the community.
