Ohlone Land Acknowledgement

This report was produced on the unceded ancestral homeland of the Ramaytush Ohlone who are the original inhabitants of the San Francisco Peninsula. As the indigenous stewards of this land, and in accordance with their traditions, the Ramaytush Ohlone have never ceded, lost, nor forgotten their responsibilities as the caretakers of this place, as well as for all peoples who reside in their traditional territory. As guests, we recognize that we benefit from living and working on their traditional homeland. We wish to pay our respects by acknowledging the Ancestors, Elders, and Relatives of the Ramaytush Ohlone community and by affirming their sovereign rights as First Peoples.

Commitment to Equity

On behalf of the Committee on City Workforce Alignment, OEWD collected data and prepared this document.

OEWD advances equitable and shared prosperity for San Franciscans by growing sustainable jobs, supporting businesses of all sizes, creating great places to live and work, and helping everyone achieve economic self-sufficiency.

To further opportunities for all San Franciscans, we create equitable pathways to good paying jobs, addressing challenges to diversity and inclusion in the local job market. We invest in the retention and stabilization of small businesses, nonprofits, and community organizations, addressing the displacement that challenges the civic vitality of San Francisco's diverse and vibrant neighborhoods. We also lead the approval and implementation of significant development projects that create more housing, especially affordable housing, while maximizing jobs, community benefits, and services. All of these efforts support broader social and economic goals that improve the quality of life for our residents.

OEWD is committed to addressing our responsibility to advance workforce equity through our programs and services by changing the beliefs, policies, institutions, and systems that have limited employment and career success for too many San Franciscans. In 2020, OEWD Workforce Development Division staff and community members developed the following "Principles of Employment Equity" to guide strategic planning efforts:

Employment equity ensures that OEWD's programs and services do not disadvantage or limit access, training, or employment opportunities based on race, ethnicity, gender identity, housing status, age, disability, sexual orientation, immigration status, country of origin, language or justice system involvement.

We acknowledge the intersectionality of each of these characteristics, particularly race, which disproportionately affects access and opportunity for each of these groups.

OEWD is committed to addressing our responsibility to advance workforce equity through our programs and services by changing the beliefs, policies, institutions, and systems that have limited employment and career success for too many San Franciscans.

Every resident of San Francisco deserves the opportunity to achieve employment and economic success. Our goal is to create a skilled and equipped workforce that reflects the diversity and assets of all of the City's residents.

As we continue to grow programs and services, we recognize the deep and pervasive impacts that past and present structural and institutional inequities have created in many of our communities and, in particular, our communities of color. The unprecedented, pre-pandemic economic opportunities realized in San Francisco have not been accessible to all. Many OEWD services are designed to reach those who have been traditionally excluded from that prosperity.

Letter from the Committee on City Workforce

We are pleased to announce the release of the Citywide Workforce Development Plan, a unified strategy from City departments, organized labor, community-based service providers, and residents of San Francisco to develop coherent strategies to address the needs of unemployed and underemployed workers, as well as individuals and communities who have been historically and systemically excluded from the labor force.

The San Francisco Workforce Development System hosts nearly 300 programs offered by 24 City departments reaching over 80,000 participants. Over the past year, the Committee on City Workforce Alignment has worked to establish a comprehensive workforce development strategy that better coordinates the goals and desired outcomes of these services focusing on the equity, inclusion and the empowerment of the community’s most vulnerable members. This report presents the critical themes that arose from the planning process and presents a unified definition of workforce development adopted by the Committee.

This plan builds upon the work of the Economic Recovery Task Force, the Citywide Racial Equity Framework, Committee members’ respective workforce development and strategic plans, and the Committee on City Workforce Alignment’s strategic planning. It is further informed by the annual Workforce Services Inventory which surveys all City departments that invest in the workforce development system, with the goal of gaining a better understanding of citywide workforce services, including outcomes, gaps, and redundancies.

While there is still much work to be done in continuing to align the various programs and enhance the quality of services to meet the City’s workforce needs, this plan is an important step forward in laying the foundation for system improvement and coordination.

Lastly, the Office of Economic and Workforce Development Workforce Director convenes and staffs the Committee on City Workforce Alignment. The Committee would like to thank Joshua Arce, Janan Howell, Ken Nim, Chad Houston, Jen Hand, Glenn Eagleson, Tai Seals-Jackson, Armina Brown, Mark Hogains, and Miriam Palma-Trujillo for their support over the last year.

Executive Summary

Established in 2022, the Committee on City Workforce Alignment (“CCWA”) is a 17-member public body comprised of City employees, community members, and labor representatives. The Office of Economic and Workforce Development (OEWD) convenes and staffs the CCWA.

Starting in 2024, the CCWA must create a Five-Year Citywide Workforce Development Plan (“Five-Year Plan”) which describes the City’s existing workforce development services, the City’s anticipated workforce development needs, benchmarks for system efficacy, documentation of partnerships and mission alignment across the entire workforce development system, measurable progress towards identified benchmarks, and goals and strategies for all workforce development services in San Francisco. The Five-Year Plan must include a projection of the funding needed to achieve the goals, and it must be consistent with existing strategic plans. Starting in 2025, the CCWA must provide biennial updates to the Five-Year Plan.

This FY 2024-2029 Citywide Workforce Development Plan reflects formal partnership among the 17-members and commitment towards coordinating on partners’ plans and priorities; investing in equitable workforce programs for our most vulnerable; investing in workforce development across the life course; enhancing apprenticeship & pre-apprenticeship programs that lead to careers; and enabling data-sharing for better coordination between workforce and other systems.

“The Alignment Committee prioritized a vulnerable populations strategy for the workforce development system and underscored that every door needs to be the right door to connect workers to services.”

History of the Citywide Workforce Alignment Strategy

In June 2014, in recognition of the breadth and depth of workforce development programming and fragmented funding across the local public workforce development system, the City and County of San Francisco—led by then-Supervisor David Chiu—passed Ordinance 84-14 to amend San Francisco Administrative Code Chapter 30 (“Chapter 30”) and establish the Committee on Citywide Workforce Alignment (“Alignment Committee”). The Ordinance intended to bring together key City stakeholders to coordinate workforce development services across City departments and increase their effectiveness.

Until May 2017, the Alignment Committee was chaired by the Mayor’s Deputy Chief of Staff and included the President of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and the department heads of the City’s five largest workforce-investing departments at the time of its inception: the Human Services

Agency of San Francisco (HSA); the Office of Economic and Workforce Development (OEWD); the Department of Children, Youth, and Their Families (DCYF); the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC); and the Department of Public Works (“Public Works”). Chapter 30 required OEWD to staff and convene the Alignment Committee. After the initial convening, the Alignment Committee invited the Human Rights Commission and the Department of Human Resources to become members.

The Alignment Committee worked closely with the Workforce Community Advisory Committee (WCAC). The WCAC was authorized by Chapter 30 to advise the federally-mandated Workforce Investment San Francisco board (WISF) and the Alignment Committee. The WCAC included the leadership from community-based organizations which were multiply-funded by Alignment Committee member departments, including Self-Help for the Elderly, San Francisco Conservation Corps, Success Center San Francisco, Japanese Community Youth Council, Young Community Developers, Episcopal Community Services of San Francisco, and Bayview Hunters Point Center for Arts & Technology (BAYCAT).

In Fall 2017, as required by Chapter 30, the Alignment Committee—advised by the WCAC—completed the FY 2017-22 Citywide Workforce Development Plan (“Five-Year Plan”) which assessed the City’s anticipated workforce development needs and opportunities over five years, and outlined the recommended goals, strategies, and funding needed to advance the work. The Five-Year Plan prioritized five policy recommendations for Citywide system alignment, with action items to make measurable change within five years.

The Alignment Committee prioritized a vulnerable populations strategy for the workforce development system and underscored that every door needs to be the right door to connect workers to services. The Alignment Committee endeavored for the workforce development system to move in lockstep with the City’s economic development investments to ensure that new, stable, and growing businesses have the talented and qualified workforce necessary to achieve their goals. Though the legislation authorizing the Alignment Committee and the Workforce Community Advisory Committee sunset in 2019, City Departments continued to meet to further the work and implement the Five-Year Plan.

In 2022, San Francisco Board of Supervisors President Shamann Walton introduced legislation reestablishing the Alignment Committee. The reauthorization intended to formalize the working partnership of the existing Alignment Committee, add community and labor representation to the Alignment Committee, and enhance the coordination and effectiveness of workforce development services among various City departments. These goals would be achieved by developing a unified definition of workforce development, establishing a new Five-Year Plan, collecting system-level data on an annual basis, and deduplicating workforce client data to demonstrate program efficacy.

The legislation amended Chapter 30 and reauthorized the body of work known as the City Workforce Alignment strategy; it became effective November 6, 2022.

The Committee on City Workforce Alignment (CCWA)

When the Ordinance reauthorized the Citywide Workforce Alignment strategy, it also established a new, 17-member policy body called the Committee on City Workforce Alignment (“CCWA”) with membership including the Board of Supervisors, the 10 largest workforce-investing City departments, four nonprofit representatives with two appointments from the Mayor and BOS (“split appointments”), and two labor representatives with split appointments.

The San Francisco Office of Economic and Workforce Development Director of Workforce Development convenes and chairs the committee. All members sit on CCWA at equal privilege with equal voting power.

Appointments are indefinite for City leadership and three-year terms for Mayor and BOS appointments. Current membership of the CCWA is as follows:

Citywide Workforce Development Plan Process & Requirements

When the Committee on City Workforce Alignment (CCWA) was reauthorized by San Francisco Ordinance No. 209-22, the legislation outlined the required content for the five-year Citywide Workforce Development Plan (“Five-Year Plan”).

The Five-Year Plan must include the following components: an assessment of existing workforce services, the City’s anticipated workforce development needs, benchmarks for system efficacy, documentation of partnerships and mission alignment across the entire workforce development system, measurable progress towards identified benchmarks, goals and strategies for all Workforce Development Services in San Francisco, projection of funding needed to achieve goals, and alignment with the October 2020 COVID-19 Economic Recovery Task Force Report (“ERTF”), the San Francisco Racial Equity Framework (“Racial Equity Strategy”) developed by the Office of Racial Equity (ORE), the OEWD Strategic Plan, and the current Local Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) Plan (“Local Plan”) and Bay-Peninsula Regional WIOA Plan (“Regional Plan”) both approved by WISF.

Citywide Workforce Development Plan Process & Requirements

Goals & Strategies

Goals and strategies for workforce development services in San Francisco were generated through public discussions with the CCWA and with community members from April 2023 to April 2024.

Alignment with Strategic Plans

In keeping with the spirit and intent of Citywide alignment, the Five-Year Plan pulls from several existing strategic plans to inform the content. In addition to the aforementioned documents required by the Ordinance, this Five-Year Plan incorporates the following, most updated strategic plans or summary documents¹. Where the most updated strategic plan is in progress, OEWD consulted with member subject matter experts to solicit current priorities.

Citywide Workforce Development Plan Process & Requirements

Labor Market Information

In preparation for the City's anticipated workforce development needs, this report integrates labor market information from the California Employment Development Department, Lightcast-Burning Glass economic modeling software, the Bay Area Jobs First Collaborative's Regional Plan Part I, the State of California Community & Place-Based Data Tool, and the San Francisco Department of Human Resources.

Annual Workforce Inventory

The Committee on City Workforce Alignment solicits an annual survey of workforce development programs funded or staffed by City departments ("Annual Workforce Inventory"). Annually, the Committee produces a report summarizing investments and outcomes from 24 City departments in support of approximately 300 workforce development programs and approximately 150 City-funded workforce providers. The FY 21-22 Annual Workforce Inventory report informed many of the required sections of the Five-Year Plan, including documentation of partnerships and mission alignment, assessment of existing workforce services, benchmarks for system efficacy, and measurable progress towards identified benchmarks.

Subsequent Review

Per Ordinance 209-22, starting in March 2025, the Committee on City Workforce Alignment is required to conduct a biennial review of the Five-Year Plan and produce an update including: a summary of the City's implementation of the Plan, a summary of the changes to federal and state funding, a summary of current fiscal year programs and expenditures for Workforce Development Services, recommended funding levels for new and existing collaborative programs and initiatives in furtherance of workforce system alignment for the following fiscal year, a statement of priorities to guide the allocation of unanticipated funding during the fiscal year, and progress towards benchmarks.

As part of the planning process, the CCWA committed to reviewing its unified definition of workforce development in tandem with the biennial update process.

The San Francisco Economy and Labor Market

CCWA members may interface with the labor market as a service provider and/or as an employer. For example, the Department of Public Health is responsible for employing and developing nearly 7,500 workers in 2022, while it was also responsible for administering funding and operating programs which are responsible for training the next generation of community and public healthcare and peer providers.

An Overview of San Francisco’s Workforce²

Most San Franciscans are working. From the U.S. Census Bureau, the San Francisco population, 16 years and over, totals 710,491, and 69% are in the labor force. The labor force includes all people 16 and older who are classified as employed and unemployed³. Of the labor force, 66.4% are employed. Comparatively, 60% of Californians 16 years and older are employed.

Many San Franciscans have not benefited from the City’s economic prosperity. While the City unemployment rate is described as 5.0% in federal data, the estimates by race and ethnicity within the same data set demonstrate severe disparities. The unemployment rate for Black or African American San Franciscans is more than twice the Citywide average, and the unemployment rate for American Indian and Alaska Native San Franciscans is even higher.

Additional analysis from ReWork the Bay’s The State of Bay Area Workers Data Tool⁴ shows stark racial inequities for workers, including that White adults are 26 percent more likely than their Black peers to be employed.

Nearly 70% of San Franciscans are working

Race ⁵	2021
Black or African American	10.7%
American Indian and Alaska Native	11.8%
Asian	5.1%
Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islander	4.9%
Some other race	7.3%
Two or more races	5.9%
Hispanic or Latino	6.2%
White alone, not Hispanic or Latino	4.4%
Population (ages 20-64) Total	5.0%

The San Francisco Economy and Labor Market

Wages have not risen proportionately. Since 1990, there has been significant disparity in job growth across different wage brackets. Middle-wage and high-wage jobs have seen an increase in employment by 24% and 34%, while low-wage jobs have decreased by 5% in the labor market.

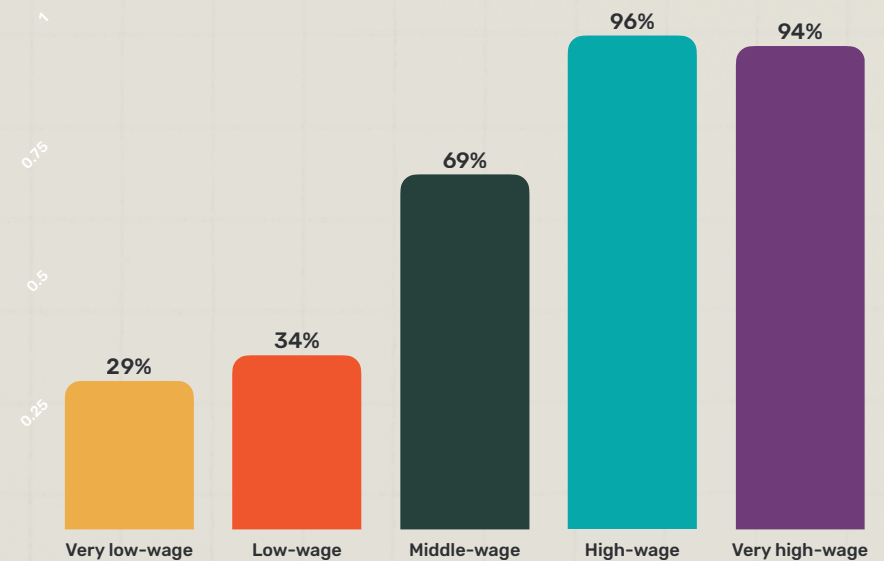

While wages have generally risen for all categories of workers during this period, the rate of wage growth has been significantly higher for high-wage and very high-wage workers. High-wage workers have experienced gains of almost 100%, compared to a 29% increase for very low-wage workers and 34% for low-wage workers over the past thirty years.

The San Franciscan median income is high, but many San Franciscans do not make a living wage. According to ACS, the median income for San Francisco is $136,692, while the median income for California is $91,551. In San Francisco, the median income for families is $167,861 and the median income for nonfamily households is $102,409. Despite these high median incomes, 10.4% of all people in San Francisco County live in poverty. Poverty is higher than the City average in Bayview Hunters Point, Chinatown, Japantown, Lakeshore, McLaren Park, Mission, South of Market, Tenderloin, Treasure Island, Visitacion Valley, and Western Addition neighborhoods.

Workers not protected by a union

Over 80% of workers are not protected by a union. Unions can be an effective intervention for stabilizing wages, improving job quality, and protecting workers' rights. Per ReWork the Bay's analysis, Native American and Black workers in the Bay Area are most likely to belong to unions. Most workers are not registered with a union and are, therefore, at-will with limited worker protections.

Earned Income Growth for Full-Time Workers in San Francisco 1990-2020

$53.48

Living wage for a family of four in San Francisco

While the Census data covers the period of calendar year 2022, the 2024 Department of Health and Human Services guidelines calculate the poverty threshold for a single adult to be $15,060 and $31,200 for a family of four⁶.

2024 Poverty Guidelines for the 48 Contiguous States and the District of Columbia

Persons in family or household

Poverty Guideline

Persons in family or household	Poverty Guideline
1	$15,060
2	$20,440
3	$25,820
4	$31,200
5	$36,580
6	$41,960
7	$47,340
8	$52,720

For families/households with more than 8 persons, add $5,380 for each additional person.

Due to the high cost of living in San Francisco, many City agencies use self-sufficiency indexes to assess need, such as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology \(MIT\) Living Wage Calculator or the Insight Center’s Family Needs Calculators. Both assess the hourly wage an individual would need to support themselves or their families and incorporate the average cost of food, child care, medical services, housing, transportation, internet and mobile, and other costs.

	1 ADULT
	0 Children	1 Children	2 Children	3 Children
Living Wage	$28.74	$57.88	$77.04	$97.94
Poverty Wage	$7.24	$9.83	$12.41	$15.00
Minimum Wage	$16.00	$16.00	$16.00	$16.00

	2 ADULTS (1 WORKING)
	0 Children	1 Children	2 Children	3 Children
Living Wage	$40.40	$48.37	$53.48	$58.71
Poverty Wage	$9.83	$12.41	$15.00	$17.59
Minimum Wage	$16.00	$16.00	$16.00	$16.00

The MIT living wage calculation (2024) for a single adult San Franciscan is $28.74/hour ($57,480/year) and for a family of four is $53.48 ($106,960/year). While the median income described in the Census is above these thresholds, both living wage calculations are more than 300 percent of poverty level. Per the ACS⁷, 37.5% of San Franciscans fall below the 400 percent of poverty level calculation and therefore may not make a living wage.

There are more men in the labor force, but women have a lower unemployment rate.

San Franciscans are born outside the US

San Franciscans are multilingual and multicultural. Over a third of San Franciscans are born outside of the United States. Over 43% of residents speak a language other than English at home, with 25% speaking Asian and Pacific Islander languages and 10.4% speaking Spanish. Administrative data from the San Francisco Human Services Agency indicate that nearly 84,000 low-income clients have limited English proficiency; major languages for this special client population include Cantonese, Spanish, other Asian Pacific Islander, Vietnamese, Russian, and Tagalog. More information about the SFHSA vulnerable populations analysis is available in Appendix A.

Many San Franciscans are highly educated, so the San Francisco workforce has a “paper ceiling” which is a barrier to advancement for workers without a bachelor’s degree. The San Francisco population is more highly educated than most municipalities, with 61.4% of San Franciscans holding a bachelor’s degree or higher. This leads to a bifurcated labor market of very low wage and high wage workers, with high labor force exclusion based on educational attainment. While the poverty rate for all San Franciscans is 10.4%, the poverty rate for San Franciscans with less than a High School degree is 20.4%, for High School graduates or workers with equivalency is 13.9%, and workers with some college or Associate’s degree is 10.2%. Comparatively, Bachelor and Professional Degree holders have a 5.1% poverty rate.

About one in eight San Franciscans lack high-speed internet access at home, and one in seven lack basic digital literacy skills. According to SF’s Digital Equity Strategic Plan⁸, throughout San Francisco – a city with a thriving tech sector – significant gaps remain in basic digital infrastructure. These gaps widen along racial and ethnic lines, with 81% to 83% of Black and Latino residents using the internet compared to 96% of White residents.

San Francisco has an older labor force. The San Francisco resident median age is 40.4 years old and the 18.3% of the population is 65 years and older, both of which are higher than the California average.

San Francisco has an older labor force. The San Francisco resident median age is 40.4 years old and the 18.3% of the population is 65 years and older, both of which are higher than the California average.

Over 16,000 veterans live in San Francisco. Veterans are predominantly male (88.4%), and veterans ages 18-65 account for 46.4% of the total population.

Nearly 12% (94,202) of San Franciscans manage a disability. Women have a slightly higher rate of disability than men, and Black or African American, Asian, and Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islander San Franciscans have higher rates of disability than the Citywide total. Moreover, administrative data from the San Francisco Human Services Agency report that nearly 34,000 low-income clients manage a disability.

Over a third of San Francisco's workers are out-of-county commuters and the average commute time for San Francisco workers is 29.5 minutes. The San Francisco economy benefits from regionalism, with workers commuting in and out of the county for economic opportunities.

Child care is expensive. According to the Children's Council of San Francisco⁹, estimated rates of child care centers per year range from $29,508 for ages 0-2 years old to $20,400 for ages 2-5 years old.

Residents work in a variety of businesses. Of San Francisco's workforce, approximately 67% work in private companies, more than 10% work for private not-for-profit organizations, 13% are local, state or federal government workers, and more than 10% are self-employed in their own or a family business.

Labor Market Information

The most reliable and updated San Francisco County labor market data come from the US Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) and California Employment Development Department Labor Market Information Division (CA EDD). OEWD reviews CA EDD data monthly and uses them to make informed decisions about strategic planning and program development. CCWA disseminates these data at least annually through the annual Workforce Inventory request, and the group incorporated these data into this section.

Per CA EDD's preliminary estimates for February 2024, the unemployment rate for San Francisco County is 3.8%. San Francisco County consistently has the second lowest unemployment rate in the State of California. The San Francisco labor force covers 558,100 workers; there are 536,700 employed and 21,400 unemployed individuals in San Francisco County. For comparison: Los Angeles County has a labor force of 5,014,600 and an unemployment rate of 5.0%, and San Diego County has a labor force of 1,602,200 and an unemployment rate of 4.7%.

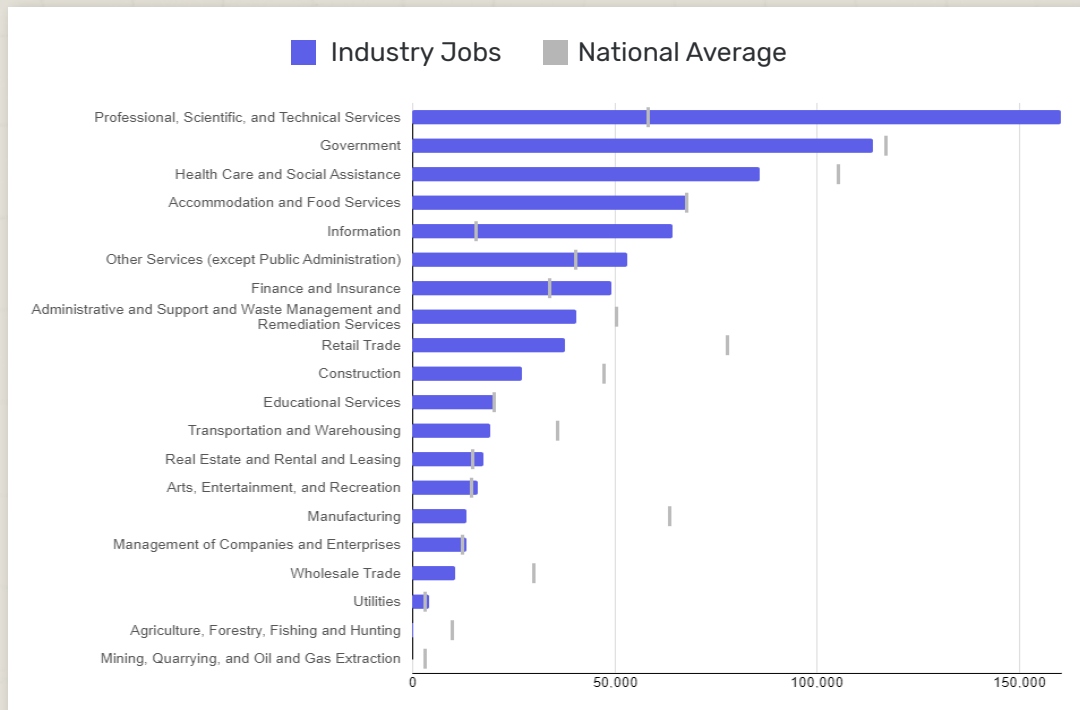

The unemployment rate for our San Francisco-Redwood City-South San Francisco MD¹⁰ is 3.8%, which is below the State's unemployment rate of 5.6%. CA EDD labor market data comparing December 2019—the last month before the COVID-19 pandemic began to impact the economy—to December 2023 indicate that our MD gained over 20,000 jobs, including in information (22,100), private education and health services (20,800), professional and business services (14,900), and financial activities (1,300).

In order to make informed decisions about economic growth and track inputs/outputs, many economic and workforce development agencies use economic modeling tools like Lightcast-Burning Glass Technologies. Lightcast-Burning Glass San Francisco County analysis informs this next section¹¹.

San Francisco’s largest industries are Professional, Scientific, and Technical Services; Government; Health Care and Social Assistance; Accommodations and Food Services; Information; Other Services; Finance and Insurance; and Administrative, Support, and Waste Management. Analysis of growing industries identify increases over the next five years in Professional, Scientific, and Technical Services; Information; Health Care and Social Assistance; Government; Finance and Insurance; Administrative and Support and Waste Management and Remediation Services; and Manufacturing¹². Many of the City’s workforce development programs train workers for careers in these fields, and the City may want to prioritize continued investment in trainings for the tech, public administration, hospitality, professional services, and administrative and waste sectors.

San Francisco Occupational Analysis

San Francisco’s largest occupations are in Management; Business and Financial Operations, Office and Administrative Support; Computer and Mathematical; Sales and Related; Food Preparation and Serving Related; Healthcare Support; Educational Instruction and Library; Healthcare Practitioners and Technical; and Transportation and Material Moving. From 2018-2023, the top growing occupations were Management, Computer and Mathematical, Business and Financial Operations, Healthcare Practitioners and Technical, and Healthcare Support. While the City’s workforce development system does have some trainings in computer and mathematical and healthcare, only the Department of Human Resources as the City’s largest employer offers trainings in management or business and financial operations.

San Francisco Occupational Analysis

Fastest Growing Occupations

Because many top occupations are within professional classes, many top specialized skills are computer-based, professional services skills. From jobs posting data, the most in-demand specialized skills include marketing, project management, finance, accounting, computer science, python, auditing, workflow management, data analysis, and software engineering. OEWD’s TechSF Academy and the Department of Human Resources provide some of these training opportunities, but the City may want to consider investing more in these areas.

The publicly-funded workforce development system intends to intervene on workers who are economically vulnerable—such as those who are unemployed, underemployed, or who have been historically excluded from the labor market—so narrowing labor market analysis to occupations and skills for workers with less than a bachelor’s degree yields valuable insights. These occupations are expected to grow significantly, offer living wages, and do not require higher education: computer and mathematical ($72), management ($84), business and financial operations ($52), healthcare practitioners and technical ($67); community and social service ($31); life, physical, and social science ($57); and legal ($77). The City may want to consider investing in trainings in these occupations as they are accessible to individuals without higher education.

San Francisco Skills Analysis

Common in-demand skills for job postings requiring only a High School, GED, or Associate’s include communication, customer service, management, operations, sales, leadership, problem solving, detail oriented, writing, English language, Microsoft Office, professionalism, interpersonal communications, Microsoft Excel, organizational skills, lifting ability, Microsoft Outlook, multitasking, planning, and coordination, and more. While the City does invest in some soft skills, computer skills, and English language classes, the City may want to consider investing more heavily in these areas. Workforce providers and community members have consistently identified the need for diversified training opportunities in non-English languages.

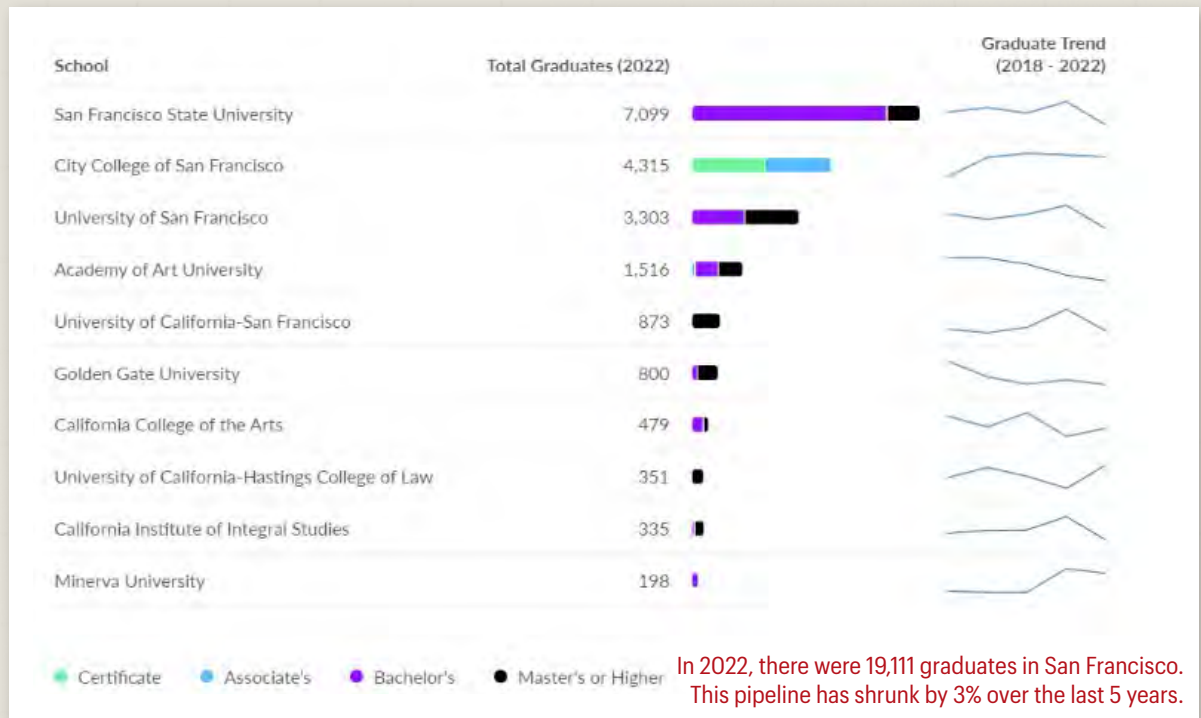

San Francisco Employers

There are over 200,000 employers in San Francisco. Top employers include large firms in Tech (LinkedIn, Google, Apple, Meta, Amazon, Salesforce), Healthcare (UCSF, Kaiser Permanente), Government (University of California), and Finance (Wells Fargo). Firms hiring at a high volume currently (March 2024) include University of California (often UCSF Medical Center), San Francisco Unified School District, Capital One, Robert Half, Salesforce, City & County of San Francisco, Sutter Health, Old Navy, United Health Group, and Gap. The City may want to consider building partnerships with large employers to support scaling programming.

San Francisco Educational Pipelines

San Francisco has many colleges and universities, though graduations from traditional higher education centers have been trending (2018-2022). The majority of bachelor's graduates come from San Francisco State University, University of San Francisco, and Academy of Art University. City College of San Francisco leads in certifications and associate degrees, though these data do not reflect certificates and training completions accomplished through the broader San Francisco Workforce Development System.

In 2022, there were 19,111 graduates in San Francisco. This pipeline has shrunk by 3% over the last 5 years.

An Overview of the Workforce for the City as an Employer

Per Ordinance 188-19, DHR produced a City Workforce Analysis in 2023. More information about the City's workforce is available here.

An Overview of the San Francisco Workforce Development System

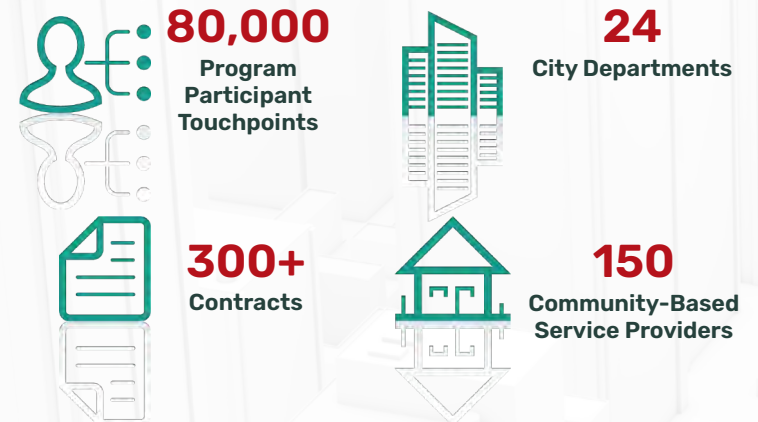

The San Francisco Workforce Development System is a network of public agencies, community-based service providers, and training organizations that offer employment-related services for youth and young adults, workers, job seekers, and employers to support San Francisco’s workforce, create reinforcing economic opportunity, and sustain economic growth.

Because public funds are limited, the publicly-funded workforce development system generally supports economically vulnerable populations, such as those who are unemployed, underemployed, or have been historically excluded from the workforce, including justice-involved workers, immigrants, individuals with limited English proficiency, people with disabilities, unhoused individuals and families, youth and young adults, older adults, women and gender minorities, and Black, Indigenous, and workers of color communities (BIPOC).

What is Workforce Development?

San Francisco’s workforce programs, as outlined in the FY 2021-2022 Citywide Workforce Services Inventory, encompass a diverse range of initiatives. These programs collectively offer nearly 80,000 program participants touch points within the San Francisco Workforce Development System. Services span nearly 300 programs, 24 City departments, over 300 contracts, and over 150 community-based service providers. This extensive network reflects the city’s comprehensive approach to addressing workforce development needs and facilitating opportunities for individuals throughout San Francisco. The full catalogue of workforce development programs is in Appendix B.

Comprehensive Approach to Workforce Development

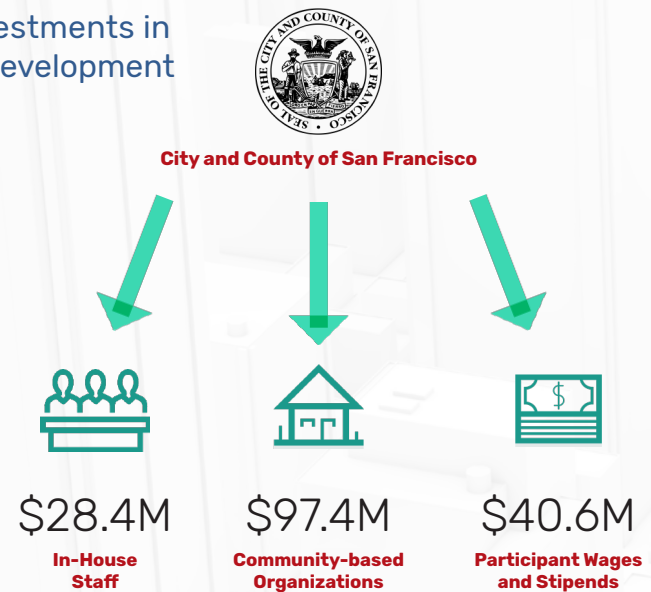

Some City-funded workforce programs help youth explore career options or support adults to develop soft skills to get their first job. Others provide classroom training or work-based learning in San Francisco’s major sectors of hospitality, health care and social assistance, information and communication technology, construction, advanced manufacturing, administrative and support and waste services, and public administration. Some programs provide placement in employment or connection to community colleges to start the next chapter, while others provide supportive services such as clothing, childcare, or tools to San Franciscans re-entering the workforce or transitioning careers. Programs may pay wages directly to participants or provide employers with wage subsidies to create an entry point to a career pathway. Some help incumbent workers develop skills or attain certifications to take their career to the next level, while some support older adults who seek part-time employment or who are considering returning to the workforce after a partial retirement.

From intake and assessment, to barrier remediation and supportive services, to job readiness and soft skills training, to sector-specific job skills training and work-based learning, to professional development, all of these City-funded services and programs make up the public San Francisco Workforce Development System.

Investments in the public San Francisco Workforce Development System source from San Francisco General Fund, local Proposition C monies for youth workforce development, local Proposition C monies for services for unhoused residents, enterprise funds from revenue-generating departments, and state and federal funding, such as the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act of 2014 (WIOA) funds administered by the San Francisco

Office of Economic and Workforce Development, Community Development Block Grants administered by the Mayor’s Office of Housing and Community Development, the Mental Health Services Act funds administered by the San Francisco Department of Public Health, and Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Employment & Training funds (CalFresh E&T) administered by the San Francisco Human Services Agency.

Primary Investments in Workforce Development

Though the City and County of San Francisco contracts out the majority of workforce development funds ($97.4M) to community-based organizations to provide place-based, culturally humble, accessible services, some City agencies fund in-house staff ($28.4M) or wages and stipends for participants ($40.6M). Many workforce programs offered within City agencies prepare participants for careers in public administration, health care or social assistance, professional and technical services, or else provide professional development opportunities to move local talent along a career pathway.

Defining Workforce Development

While some departments have had their own definitions of workforce development, others integrate disparate federal or state requirements into their policies and programs. Ordinance No. 209-22 required the creation of a unified definition of workforce development and universal adoption by San Francisco's workforce development investing agencies.

The purpose of establishing a unified definition is multi-fold across planning, evaluation, compliance, and communication. The definition is the first step in the strategic planning process, as it allows CCWA to establish a Citywide standard by which to categorize existing programming, develop an equitable and unified approach to building a workforce development system, and establish goals, outcomes, and benchmarks to improve the system. Through agreement on the components of a workforce development system, the City also is able to integrate uniform standards into procurements, grants, and contracts. The process also helps CCWA create shared language around programming, thusly allowing the City to communicate the availability and impact of programming.

Policy Analysis

From April – October 2023, CCWA conducted stakeholder engagement and research of policy, authorizing legislation, programs, procurements, and websites of member agencies, State and Federal authorities, and service providers in the San Francisco Workforce Development System in order to understand each stakeholder's requirements and intent in administering workforce services.

Policy analysis included review of the major policy and legislation impacting workforce development programs: US Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, Department of Labor, and Department of Housing and Urban Development; CA Welfare and Institutions Code, Penal Code, Unemployment Insurance Code, Education Code, Mental Health Services Act, and AB 109; and San Francisco Chapter 30, Children & Youth Fund, Ordinance 188-19 Office of Racial Equity Authorization, Proposition C Our City Our Home, and the Department of Human Resources Employee Handbook.

CCWA also reviewed departments' workforce development definitions as reported through the annual Workforce Inventory, websites, procurements, and discussions at community meetings.

A Unified Definition of Workforce

CCWA landed on a four-factor test for workforce development systems, where programs must meet all criteria in order to be considered a workforce development program.

This standard was disseminated to the 24 City Departments funding workforce development through the Annual Workforce Services Inventory in October 2023. Departments received the request, which clearly outlined the new definition, and partners were invited to attend a technical assistance webinar where the new definition was reviewed.

“Workforce development” shall mean publicly-funded services, including:

Workforce navigation, employment, training, supportive, educational support, and youth development services;

in preparation for employment or placement in post-secondary education; which lead to family-sustaining wages, career pathways with an emphasis in high-growth sectors or in-demand occupations, quality jobs, and/or union membership; and prioritize participants who experience economic vulnerability.

- Workforce navigation: Outreach, Referral, Orientation, Information Sharing, Referral, Skill & Career Assessment, Provision of Labor Market Information, Individual Career Planning, Career Coaching, Individual Case Management, Intensive Case Management, Career Exposure, Networking & Social Capital Development, Mentorship
- Employment: Job Search, Job Development, Resume Writing, Interview Preparation, Job Club/Job Seeker Support Services, Job Fairs, Job Placement, Subsidized Employment, Retention Services, Layoff Aversion, Employer Engagement/Concierge, Tax Credit Advising, Employment Bonding, Skills-Based Hiring
- Training: Basic Skills, English, Digital Literacy, Financial Literacy, Job/Workplace Readiness, Sector-Specific Job Readiness, Vocational, Occupational, On-the-Job, Project-Based Learning, Internship, Fellowship, Entrepreneurial, Pre-Apprenticeship, Apprenticeship, Training Scholarships (ITAs), Incumbent Worker
- Supportive: Childcare, Transportation, Social Service Navigation, Driver's License Acquisition or Record Remediation, Drug Testing, Legal Aid Services, Assistance with Work-Related Expenses, Clothing and Supplies, Referrals to Mental and Behavioral Health
- Educational support: HS Diploma/GED Attainment, Educational Testing Fees, Assistance with Education-Related Expense, College Degree Barrier Remediation
- Youth development services: Young Adult Workforce Services, Mentoring, Youth Internship, College Prep, & Placement in Post-Secondary Education

Caveats and Conditions

Publicly-funded services must commit to data collection and collect enrollment, completion, and placement data at a minimum.

Services which do not meet these criteria must be connected to a workforce program to be considered eligible for categorization and funding.

The definition will be revisited biennially with the submission of updates to the Citywide Workforce Development Plan.

The Committee's adoption of the definition does not intend to supersede provisions in existing collective bargaining agreements between the City and labor organizations representing City employees related to entry-level employment.

Partnerships & Mission Alignment Across the Entire Workforce System

By nature of their mandated partnership, CCWA members work closely together to develop and fund programming which meets the needs of San Francisco workers.

Here are several examples of successful partnership projects:

Citywide Racial Equity Action Plans

Per Ordinance No 188-19, each City department needed to develop a Racial Equity Action Plan in alignment with the ORE Citywide Racial Equity Framework by December 2020. The Phase 1 Framework outlined the Office of Racial Equity’s vision to transform systems to support the collective liberation of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) in San Francisco, especially with regards to racial equity within the San Francisco City government on behalf of all workers and communities. The development of Departmental Racial Equity Actions Plans directed City Departments to assess current conditions in seven key focus areas for all employees, especially for BIPOC; to identify necessary staffing and resources; to hold themselves accountable by setting timely, measurable goals and commitments; to intentionally address interpersonal and institutional racism within Departments. In furtherance of the Citywide Racial Equity Action Plans, the Dream Keeper Initiative made substantial investments into workforce and economic development programs to increase opportunities for the Black community.

This initiative is led by HRC, ORE, in partnership with DHR and all City departments.

Partnerships & Mission Alignment Across the Entire Workforce System

Opportunities for All

Opportunities for All (OFA) provides access to career exploration and workforce development for San Francisco's youth and young adults. The initiative includes paid internships, mentorship, and pathways to employment, including job readiness, career training, and apprenticeship for participants ages 13 to 24. OFA focuses on equitable access to these opportunities through workforce connection, support and job resources for both jobseekers and employers alike.

OFA is led by HRC with implementation support from DCYF, OEWD, and other City agencies. Many interns are housed at City Departments in order to get valuable public sector experience in high school and college.

Community Assessment and Services Center (CASC) at the County Jail

The Community Assessment and Services Center (CASC) is a one-stop reentry center, offering a full range of support services for justice-involved adults. Services include: case management, medication management and distribution, peer mentoring, 1:1 therapy, education and employment services, barrier removal, and benefits acquisition.

CASC is led by APD and UCSF with services and/or funding support from OEWD, SFHSA, and DPH.

Partnerships & Mission Alignment Across the Entire Workforce System

Interrupt, Predict, Organize

In July 2012 Mayor Edwin M. Lee announced a new violence prevention and intervention public safety initiative called “Interrupt, Predict, and Organize for a Safer San Francisco” (IPO). The vision of the IPO is to create a safer city by outlining public safety goals and objectives that interrupt gun violence, predict where crime is most likely to occur, and organize services and community awareness efforts to effect long term reductions in violence.

IPO is led by the Street Violence Response Team with funding and/or service support from MYR, BOS, APD, DPH, and OEWD.

CityBuild Academy

CityBuild offers a 12-week pre-apprenticeship and construction skills training programs at the City College of San Francisco, Evans Campus. Trainees learn college-level math while learning foundational skills, obtaining industry-recognized certifications, and gaining knowledge to enter the construction trades as successful new apprentices. It is administered by the San Francisco Office of Economic and Workforce Development.

CityBuild is led by OEWD with employer and/or funding support from SFPUC, PRT, SFO, RPD, and SFMTA.

Partnerships & Mission Alignment Across the Entire Workforce System

ApprenticeshipSF

The City's ApprenticeshipSF programs are designed to move an apprentice from a low or no skill entry-level position to full journey level occupational proficiency. Apprentices are City employees who earn a full-time salary, while learning the skills and competencies of a new occupation through educational coursework and on-the-job training. An ApprenticeshipSF program is led by the Department of Human Resources in partnership with a labor organization, educational partner, individual City departments hosting apprentices, and other partners contributing to the success of the apprenticeship program. All ApprenticeshipSF programs meet parameters established under both the SF City and County Civil Service System, the California Division on Apprenticeship Standards, and the National Apprenticeship Act, and comply with the appropriate memorandum of understanding with labor partners. Upon finishing the training program, an apprentice earns a "Completion of Registered Apprenticeship" certificate, an industry issued, nationally recognized credential that validates proficiency in an apprenticeable occupation.

ApprenticeshipSF is led by DHR with funding and/or employer support from OEWD, Public Works, Recreation and Parks Department, the SFMTA, Airport, Port of San Francisco, Public Utilities Commission, Office of City Administrator, and other participating City agencies.

Partnerships & Mission Alignment Across the Entire Workforce System

Behavioral Health Clinician Fellowship Program

DPH created a cohort of 20 fellows from diverse backgrounds to join Behavioral Health Services team at DPH for a 1-year program which includes clinical trainings and shadowing and coaching from HR to assist with career growth within DPH so they can transition from Fellow to a PCS Behavioral Health Clinician, thus reducing BHC vacancies and bringing to the community well-trained, culturally and racially humble clinicians with institutional know-how and networks established during their fellowship.

This fellowship is a partnership between the DPH Human Resources (DPH Internal HR) and DPH Behavioral Health Services (DPH Service Provider) divisions. DPH invites current interns and eligible students graduating from SFSU, Cal State East Bay, UC Berkeley, and other programs to apply for the fellowship.

City Departments Offering Workforce Development

In addition to the CCWA City members, the following City departments also offer workforce development services, are essential partners in the San Francisco Workforce Development System, and need to be engaged in Plan implementation.

Department on the Status of Women (DOSW)

Department of the Environment (ENV)

Fire Department (FIRE)

Mayor’s Office of Housing and Community Development (MOHCD)

Office of Civic Engagement and Immigrant Affairs (OCEIA)

Port of San Francisco (PORT)

Recreation and Parks Department (RPD)

San Francisco District Attorney (SFDA)

San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (SFMTA)

San Francisco Public Defender (PDR)

San Francisco Public Library (LIB)

San Francisco International Airport (SFO)

San Francisco Department of Technology (TIS)

City-Funded Community-Based Organizations

The number of employment and training organizations funded by the City and County of San Francisco varies slightly every year. As of FY 21-22, the City funded over 150 organizations to provide workforce development services.

Workforce Provider Asset Map

It is important to note that the primary location for these providers was used to generate an asset map of workforce services in San Francisco. Many providers may operate out of multiple locations or satellite offices embedded in schools, libraries, or other locations, and these are not captured on this map. The source data is in Appendix C.

Examples of Funding Alignment

Many organizations receive funding from multiple City agencies that are woven together to broaden clients to be serviced or provide comprehensive services. A table of community-based organization contracts by City departments is in Appendix D.

In FY 21-22, the following organizations have four or more workforce development contracts:

1. Goodwill Industries
(APD, SFHSA, HSH, OEWD, MOHCD)

2. Young Community Developers
(APD, DCYF, MOHCD, OEWD, SFHSA)

3. Community Youth Center of SF
(DCYF, PUBLIC WORKS, MOHCD, OEWD)

YOUTH SERVICES

4. Larkin Street Youth Services
(DCYF, HSH, OEWD, PORT)

5. San Francisco Conservation Corps
(SFCC) (DCYF, OEWD, SFHSA, SHF)

6. Episcopal Community Services of SF
(APD, DCYF, MOHCD, OEWD, SFHSA)

Examples of Funding Alignment

In order to reduce duplication of services, workforce development departments encourage organizations to leverage funds for different parts of programs or to fund programs targeted to different priority populations. Additionally, some partner organizations have disparate Federal and State requirements which allow them to fund certain types of services. An example of such use cases for multiple contracts is below:

Goodwill Industries

Goodwill equips low-income individuals and those with barriers with the skills required to success in the 21st century job market. We also hire our trainees to gain transferrable skills and valuable on-the-job experience in our stores and warehouses. And for those motivated job seekers who want to pursue a sustainable career track, we help place them in jobs at top Bay Area Companies.

As of FY 2021-22, Goodwill received workforce funding from APD, SFHSA, HSH, OEWD, and MOHCD for the following programs:

Comprehensive Job Center (OEWD)

The Comprehensive Job Center delivers the entire array of workforce development services, including job search assistance and preparation; career planning and exploration; access to education and training services; and access to computers, internet, copy machines and more. Community Assessment and Services Center (APD) The CASC Goodwill employment program includes job readiness training, job placement and retention services, and barrier removal. Goodwill's goal is to prepare clients with the skills and understanding to obtain gainful employment--a job, thereby decreasing the risk of recidivism and incarceration.

Specialized Job Center (OEWD)

Specialized Job Centers offer workforce services for immigrants, homeless, veterans, persons with disabilities, and customers with limited English proficiency. They offer one-on-one support with job search and skill development; referrals to training for high-demand industries; job readiness services to prepare individuals for the workforce; and provide direct job placement assistance. Goodwill runs the Reentry Specialized Job Center at the Community Assessment and Services Center.

Adult Rapid Rehousing Workforce Development Program (HSH)

This program is a key supportive service for participants in the Adult Rapid Rehousing (RRH) program (for unhoused individuals) to help them successfully take over 100% of their rent, gain confidence in life skills, and pursue employment that can lead to jobs that pay livable wages.

Employment Services to Currently At-Risk and Formerly Homeless Individuals (SFHSA)

These contracts provide job readiness training, employment services, and vocational training programs for formerly homeless and currently at-risk individuals.

TechSF On-Ramp (OEWD)

Sector On-Ramps, formerly known as Bridge programs, deliver sector-contextualized foundational learning and career exploration within the Technology Sector Workforce Programs.

Digital Essentials Plus (MOHCD)

Digital literacy skill building, primarily for Black residents citywide.

Sample Program for Funding Alignment

An example of how a training program leverages funding for different parts of its program is Dusty's Fishing Well's City EMT training program.

City EMT

City EMT is a sub-division of Dusty's Fishing Well (DFW), a non-profit organization committed to uplifting youth from disadvantaged neighborhoods in the San Francisco Bay Area with educational enrichment programs. The DFW family recognized the needs of the community were far-reaching beyond the teenagers, they saw the Transitional Aged Youth (TAY) were suffering from exposure, guidance, and entry level education to career pathway opportunities. We took our thoughts to the drawing board, expanded our scope, and created City EMT.

Founded in 2018, City EMT is a career training and life skills program offered in San Francisco to young adults 18-24 years old. It follows the vision of the founder and her mother Dusty Harris (RIP), whom the organization is affectionately named after.

The City EMT program is designed as a 32-hour per week paid training program. Participants receive occupational skills training in EMT skills, knowledge, and field experience. Participants additionally receive soft skills and sector-specific job readiness training with tutoring, mentoring, and professional development workshops, in addition to trauma-informed, culturally humble wraparound supportive services. City EMT enrollees receive a 4-month stipend for participants in its EMT training program. There are two cohorts a year.

The program is a partnership with HRC, OEWD, FIRE Department of Emergency Management, and Office of the Treasurer and Tax Collector. Additionally, the program partners with the Marin Food Bank, EMS Corps, and Bay EMT. By braiding resources, City EMT offers a 4-month stipend for participants, supportive services, occupational skills training in an in-demand sector, and sector-specific job readiness training (“soft skills training”).

Creation of the Citywide Workforce Development Plan

From April 2023 – April 2024, CCWA worked to create the Citywide Workforce Development Plan. Outside of the legislative mandate to create a plan, the CCWA identified the following overarching goals:

Goals for the Development of the Citywide Workforce Development Plan

1. Strengthen coordination across the San Francisco workforce development initiatives

2. Identify and address gaps in the San Francisco workforce development system

3. Improve equitable outcomes across workforce development initiatives in San Francisco

The CCWA identified the following themes:

- Family sustaining wages and pathways out of poverty
- Intentionality and impact
- Equity, inclusion, and empowerment through economic opportunity
- Future of work, succession planning, and economic recovery
- Skill development, career pathways, advancement
- Partnership, collaboration with government agencies and communities
- Data, evaluation, and data-driven management
- Adaptability, innovation, and seamless systems

Many of these themes were validated by community members during public comment at CCWA meetings and at two community meetings to create the workforce development definition and the outcomes and activities for the Five-Year Plan:

- Support for Vulnerable Populations
- Targeting Programs & Pathways for Specific Populations
- Worker Retention & Learning
- Social Rehabilitation & Career Laddering
- Leveraging Lived Experience
- Addressing Workforce Readiness/Literacy
- Supply-Side Priorities & Employer Services
- Language Accessibility & Support for Foreign-Born Workers
- Inclusivity & Specificity
- Community-Based Outreach & Staffing
- Stabilization & Wraparound Services
- System & Case Management Improvements
- Data Analysis to Address Vulnerable Populations Needs
- Youth Workforce Development
- Workforce Development for Older Adults
- Quality over Quantity

Goal One

Coordination of Partners' Plans and Priorities

Committee & Community Priorities

Intentionality and Impact, Collaborative Partnerships, Family Sustaining Wages and Pathways Out of Poverty, Addressing Community Needs, Improving Metrics and Evaluation, Employer Engagement, Skills Development

What does success look like?

- More San Franciscans are employed.
- Workforce clients get a job, a better job, and a career.
- Workforce clients earn a living wage two years post-program.
- Members establish positive, mutually beneficial, informal and formal partnerships.
- Workforce providers are aware of the full scope of workforce development system and build partnerships with complementary programs.
- Workforce providers—especially employees at the City and County of San Francisco—are diversified across direct service and leadership job classes.
- Workforce providers—especially employees at the City and County of San Francisco—offer client-centered and community-embedded services.
- No displacement of current City workforce due to workforce development strategies.

Goal One: Coordination of Partners' Plans and Priorities

Outcome 1: Cohesion with and support for partners' existing plans and priorities.

- Encourage cooperation and collaboration among community-based organizations (CBOs) providing workforce services, rather than competition for limited resources.
- Establish industry-specific committees to better align workforce development initiatives with the needs of key sectors across member agencies.
- Prioritize access to affordable housing, healthcare, food security, and childcare before or alongside workforce services.
- Partner with CBOs, labor organizations, and local educational institutions to develop career pipeline programs for San Francisco residents and displaced populations interested in entering the City's essential jobs.
- Partners adhere to San Francisco hiring policies and agreements—such as Local Hire, First Source, and Collective Bargaining Agreements—in the development of new programs.

Outcome 2: Shared understanding of existing services, terminology, and best practices.

- Identify and replicate best practices that have demonstrated success in workforce development efforts.
- Establish and annually update best practice guide to workforce development.
- Use annual workforce inventory to summarize programming and leverage the process to disseminate service delivery information.
- Identify other cities/models demonstrating measurable improvements to learn from.

Goal One: Coordination of Partners' Plans and Priorities

- Research workforce best practices, including incentives for employers, businesses, and participants to engage in workforce development initiatives.
- Integrate skills-based hiring best practices—such as experience for education substitutions—for City employment processes and in coaching for private sector employers.

Outcome 3: Prioritized lived experience and connection with community.

- Ensure workforce development programs and services adequately address the specific needs of economically vulnerable populations, such as unemployed, underemployed, and historically excluded workers.
- Prioritize the lived experiences and community connections of target populations to better understand and meet their workforce development needs.
- City as Employer is able to prioritize lived experience in workforce development services so City providers may be able to be client-centered and community-embedded.
- Providers with lived experience are developed into higher wage and leadership positions within the social service and public administration sector.

Outcomes 4: Strong partnerships with CBOs, labor partners, and local educational institutions for career pipeline programs.

- Hold quarterly consortiums that bring together workforce providers, community organizations, and other stakeholders to facilitate collaboration, share insights, and coordinate efforts.
- Host joint resource fairs with various workforce-focused community-based organizations and libraries to promote awareness and access to available services.

Goal One: Coordination of Partners' Plans and Priorities

- Expand partnerships to educational institutions such as SFUSD and CCSF.
- Develop toolkits and resources to support smaller organizations in offering workforce development programs such as apprenticeships.
- Establish partnerships with the San Francisco Unified School District (SFUSD) to ensure local students gain the necessary skills and experience for in-demand industries.

Goal Two

Equitably Invest in Workforce Programs for our Most Vulnerable

(Unemployed, Underemployed, and Historically Excluded from the Labor Market Workers)

Committee & Community Priorities

Equity, Inclusion, Empowerment, Targeted Programs and Pathways for Specific Populations, Support for Foreign-Born Workers, Culturally Humble Services, Community-Based Outreach and Staffing, Prioritizing Stabilization and Wraparound Services, System and Case Management Improvements, Data Analysis to Address Needs of Vulnerable Populations, Accessibility, Support for Vulnerable Populations

What does success look like?

- Clients are eligible and competitive for employment after completion of services with the goal to attain employment.
- Clients achieve economic self-sufficiency without supplemental public benefits.
- Clients can access supportive services for stabilization before, during, and after program enrollment.
- Clients can access any service in their preferred language.
- City and County of San Francisco workforce increases racial, gender, and linguistic diversity.

Goal Two: Equitably Invest in Workforce Programs for our Most Vulnerable

Outcome 2.1: Better workforce and economic outcomes for vulnerable populations.

- Prioritize defining and understanding the diverse vulnerable populations.
- Conduct segmentation analyses to understand size, needs of different vulnerable groups.
- Involve community voice in identifying gaps and refining services.
- Collect robust pre/post-program data as well as qualitative participant stories.
- Track and report on the number of individuals from vulnerable populations (e.g., people with disabilities, unhoused, returning citizens) served through workforce initiatives.
- Adopt trauma-informed care models tailored for vulnerable communities.
- Implement training for workforce providers and employers on cultural humility.
- Allow flexible service delivery timelines for participant success.
- Encourage employers to hire individuals with limited English proficiency and provide them with time and resources to improve their language skills during work.

Outcome 2.2: More culturally humble outreach and recruitment to connect vulnerable populations to workforce programs.

- Co-locate or integrate workforce services with other essential wraparound supports.
- Implement pre-program interventions and additional support to increase the ability of individuals with significant barriers to enter and successfully complete career pathway programs.

Goal Two: Equitably Invest in Workforce Programs for our Most Vulnerable

- Partner with deeply embedded community organizations to conduct outreach and recruitment, such as funding and deploying outreach workers from the communities being served, providing incentives for respected community members to promote services, and prioritizing hiring staff from the impacted communities.
- Provide incentives for effective intake, assessment, and service linkage.
- Ensure cultural representation and humility in outreach/marketing materials.

Outcome 2.3: More culturally humble services that can meet people's needs within their career journey and support them to be successful in workforce programs.

- Develop vocational training, language learning, and educational programs specifically tailored for unemployed, underemployed, and historically excluded workers, such as formerly incarcerated, limited English populations, immigrants, people with disabilities, women, BIPOC, and older adults.
- Explore the development of special programs to provide income opportunities for migrants seeking green cards and employment opportunities, such as entrepreneurship, worker co-operatives, and independent contracting.
- Build pathways for skilled immigrants/migrants to find commensurate employment.
- Increase cultural/linguistic competency of workforce providers.
- Integrate English language learning to support career growth.
- Provide specialized and peer-to-peer support services for individuals with disabilities, older adults, and returning citizens to address their unique needs.

Goal Two: Equitably Invest in Workforce Programs for our Most Vulnerable

- Increase employment opportunities for older adults and seniors.
- Adopt individualized case management plans instead of one-size-fits-all.
- Connect entry-level job hires from vulnerable populations to affordable housing options, including rental assistance.
- Establish wellness services including cultural wellness and gender-affirming care.
- Advocate for barrier removal, such as providing childcare to facilitate access to training.
- Target redevelopment projects in historically Black communities to provide on-site job training and apprenticeship opportunities for youth.

Goal Three

Invest in Workforce Development Across the Life Course

Committee & Community Priorities

Skills Development, Collaborative Partnerships, Youth Workforce Development, Workforce Development for Older Adults, Future of Work, Succession Planning, Employer Interventions

What does success look like?

- Participants access the workforce development system at any stage of their careers and across their life course.
- Workforce development services are client-centered and community-embedded.
- More youth, young adults, and older adults access workforce services.
- More employers partner closely with City and workforce providers.
- The City makes age standard policy changes, especially for youth and young adults.

Goal Three: Invest in Workforce Development Across the Life Course

Outcome 3.1: Ensure workforce system meet the needs of individuals across their life course from pre-employment through full retirement.

- Map life course stages for world of work (e.g., youth development, early skill development, new career, mid-career, career changer, retiree, workforce returner).
- Conduct audience segmentation and needs assessments to tailor skill development initiatives to the unique needs of different target populations.
- Ensure training and development programs address the evolving needs of individuals from the start of their careers to retirement by designing programs that help individuals transition between different stages of their careers and lives, including retirement planning and part-time or return to the workforce from retirement.
- Implement work-life experience opportunities and credit-for-prior-learning programs to address the paper ceiling.
- Ensure inclusive practices to minimize participant disengagement.

Outcome 3.2: Awareness of programs and career options and how to access them.

- Ensure apprenticeship and vocational programs are accessible for speakers of the top 5-10 languages in San Francisco, beyond just English and Spanish.
- Conduct door-to-door outreach and engage in social media campaigns to raise awareness of programs.
- Table at community events and highlight success stories through social media platforms.

Goal Three: Invest in Workforce Development Across the Life Course

- Collaborate with libraries and local schools to provide in-person support and guidance to potential participants.
- Expand community outreach efforts to social and community settings to reach a wider audience.
- Strengthen partnerships between educational institutions, community organizations, and employers to expand apprenticeship opportunities.
- Establish career counseling and mentorship programs to guide participants.

Outcome 3.3: Develop additional workforce programs and services to meet community-identified needs.

- Develop coordination process for proposed programs and services, such as:
 - Bridge programs to help individuals with foundational skills before they enter career pathway program.
 - Skill-building programs for digital literacy, communication, and occupation-specific skills.
 - Financial literacy education integrated with workforce development.
 - Flexible courses and training opportunities for homemakers and others with family caregiving responsibilities.
 - Mentorship programs to provide guidance and support throughout an individual's career journey.
 - Wellness programs to teach "wellness in the workplace" behaviors before a participant is placed in employment.
 - Paid training options for skill development and career advancement.

Goal Three: Invest in Workforce Development Across the Life Course

- Opportunities for volunteering and developing soft skills in work settings.
- Occupational skills training tailored to the needs of diverse participants.
- Support for participants to improve language fluency and upgrade their skills.
- Establish resourcing mechanism for proposed programs and services.

Outcome 3.4: Provide young people with access to work experience and career opportunities.

- Improve coordination among youth workforce programs to identify and address gaps, while reducing duplication of efforts.
- Incorporate financial literacy education into workforce development initiatives, with a particular focus on serving youth.
- Establish mentorship programs that connect young people with experienced professionals, such as C-suite executives and managers.
- Explore opportunities for youth to rotate through different roles and departments within companies to support career exploration.

Goal Three: Invest in Workforce Development Across the Life Course

Outcome 3.5: Improve employer engagement in the workforce development system.

- Dedicate staff roles to collaborate with employers, market apprenticeship programs, and assist with program administration.
- Provide longer wage subsidies for businesses that train and hire San Francisco residents.
- Offer education and resources on independent contracting and business ownership.
- Support entrepreneurship pathways that lead to LLC development and budgeting skills.
- Create specialized training programs and on-call staffing pools for small business owners.
- Implement interventions that support employers, such as short-term employment trials to assess job fit.
- Bring in more partner companies to expand opportunities for high-road jobs and workforce development.
- Invest in higher wages and career ladders within nonprofit organizations to support workforce development.
- Identify job opportunities within government organizations that do not require college degrees.
- Facilitate access to job-ready individuals for industries facing worker shortage.
- Provide succession planning training and resources for organizations to support knowledge transfer.

Goal Four

Enhance Apprenticeship & Pre-Apprenticeship Programs that Lead to Careers

Committee & Community Priorities

Quality over Quantity, Employer Engagement, Civil Service & Government Employment, Nonprofit & Community Capacity Building, Language Access, Enhancing Partnerships and Collaboration, Career Services, Skill Building, Employer Incentives, Small Business & Entrepreneurship Pathways

What does success look like?

- Economically vulnerable populations access City-funded apprenticeships.
- Pre-apprentices and apprentices achieve wage progression and measurable skills gains.
- Pre-apprentices and apprentices are prepared for journey-level work and eligible to be dispatched at the prevailing rate of pay.
- City apprenticeships incorporate wage progression.
- More employers enter the City-funded ecosystem for apprenticeship.

Goal Four: Enhance Apprenticeship & Pre-Apprenticeship Programs

Outcome 4.1: Long-term jobs, skill development, and livable wages for apprentices.

- Prioritize apprenticeship programs based on labor market trends and industry demands.
- Identify in-demand industries and develop apprenticeship opportunities to address workforce shortages.
- Encourage employers to expand apprenticeship opportunities and secure commitments for job placements and continuing education scholarships.
- Assess program success with post-program retention wage analysis.
- Provide multilingual support and paid opportunities to make apprenticeship programs accessible.
- Equip participants with necessary technology and equipment to be successful in apprenticeship programs.

Outcome 4.2: Enhance existing City apprenticeship opportunities.

- Prioritize City-funded apprenticeships for economically vulnerable populations.
- Conduct fund development analysis of existing and future Federal and State resources for apprenticeship expansion and enhancement.
- Establish centralized coordination for apprenticeship programs to streamline collaboration efforts.
- Increase awareness of civil service job opportunities through targeted outreach and recruitment efforts.

Outcome 4.3: Clear career pathways, starting with traineeships and fellowships.

- Develop career pathways and classifications within the City workforce development departments to support apprenticeship programs.
- Develop peer-to-peer support networks for alumni of pre-apprenticeship programs.
- Establish career counseling and mentorship programs to guide participants.

Outcome 4.4: Increased employer engagement in apprenticeship.

- Dedicate staff roles to collaborate with employers, market apprenticeship programs, and assist with program administration.
- Develop examples of cost-saving budgets to encourage businesses to accept apprentices.
- Introduce tax savings (tax breaks) for businesses offering apprenticeship opportunities.
- Offer financial rewards for successful apprentice placements and recognition for businesses offering career-building apprenticeships.
- Establish pre-apprenticeship training programs tailored to the needs of small business owners.
- Create specialized training programs and on-call staffing pools for small business owners.
- Create pipelines and industry standards for community ambassador programs.
- Develop industry standards and provide resources for community-based organizations to offer apprenticeship programs.

Goal Five

Enable Data-Sharing for Better Coordination Between Workforce & Other Systems

Committee & Community Priorities

Data Sharing Infrastructure, User Experience Enhancement, Participant Feedback, Resource Allocation and Support, Data & Metrics Development, Improve System Processes, Improving Metrics and Evaluation

What does success look like?

- Shared language defining workforce development and goals.
- Strategic alignment or summary of how strategic plans, policies, and services work together.
- Shared data system to uncover workforce development services provided across life course and impact to clients and vulnerable communities.
- Interagency referral systems are operational.
- All workforce programs collect and report enrollment, completion, and placement data at a minimum.

Goal Five: Enable Data-Sharing for Better Coordination Between Systems

Outcome 5.1: Identify and reduce duplication and gaps in services.

- Share best practices in workforce development with partners.
- Assess existing programs against best practices.
- Identify gaps in services.
- Create service delivery feedback loops.

Outcome 5.2: Increased collaboration and efficiency across agencies and organizations.

- Identify use cases for shared clients and vulnerable populations.
- Address privacy concerns first and develop memorandums of understanding.
- Develop a research plan to study use cases.
- Solve operational inefficiencies.
- Create a centralized database of workforce services and resources, and provide access to educators, teachers, and community-based organizations to better coordinate programs and connect participants to opportunities.
- Create an external-facing database of workforce services and resources for participant self-service.

Goal Five: Enable Data-Sharing for Better Coordination Between Systems

Outcome 5.3: Streamlined data, data-informed decisions, and validation of service models.

- Create a unified data system integration plan.
- Establish pre- and post-measures to evaluate income levels and track participant progress.
- Collect data on apprentice placement numbers and financial literacy success to assess program impact.
- Implement LMI data-driven objectives to inform program development and improve outcomes.
- Collaborate with labor market research organizations to gather data and inform program development.
- Conduct research on technology trends and anticipate future workforce requirements.

Appendix A: San Francisco Vulnerable Populations Data

In order to best operationalize the full breadth of economically vulnerable populations in San Francisco, SFHSA, OEWD, and other alignment partners (HSH, APD, DPH, PUC) developed a data resource for strategic planning, policy analysis, and program development which is reviewed and updated annually.

The SFHSA Vulnerable Populations Data Book¹³ provides comprehensive data on low-income adults (ages 18+) in San Francisco, by specific vulnerable population, zip code, and census tract. Low-income individuals are defined as those who participate in at least one of SF-HSA's Economic Support & Self-Sufficiency (ESSS) programs: Medi-Cal, CalFresh, County Adult Assistance Programs (CAAP), and CalWORKs.

The approximate income thresholds for these programs are as follows:

- Medi-Cal: 200% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL)
- CalFresh: 138% of the FPL
- CAAP: 50% of the FPL
- CalWORKs: 100% of the FPL

Research indicates that the Medi-Cal penetration rate is quite high in San Francisco; specifically, most individuals who are eligible for Medi-Cal are enrolled in the program. Approximately 212,000 individuals were enrolled in the Medi-Cal program in September 2019. This high enrollment rate allows us to use the population of people who are publicly aided individuals as a proxy for all low-income individuals at 200% of the FPL and below in San Francisco.

The specific vulnerable populations¹⁴ included in the data resource include: individuals with limited English proficiency, individuals with disabilities, public benefit recipients, public and subsidized housing recipients, individuals experiencing homelessness, foster youth, transitional aged youth, and older adults¹⁵.

Appendix B: FY 21-22 City-Funded Workforce Development Programs

Dept.	Name of FY 2021-22 Workforce Program	One or Two Sentence Description of Program	Type of Workforce Program
APD	Young Community Developers	Interrupt, Predict, Organize (IPO) is a violence prevention program integrating subsidized employment, professional development, and case management.	Service Delivery
APD	Arriba Juntos	Interrupt, Predict, Organize (IPO) is a violence prevention program integrating subsidized employment, professional development, and case management.	Service Delivery
APD	SF Goodwill (CASC Employment Services)	The CASC Goodwill employment program includes job readiness training, job placement and retention services, and barrier removal. Goodwill's goal is to prepare clients with the skills and understanding to obtain gainful employment—a job, thereby decreasing the risk of recidivism and incarceration.	Service Delivery
DCYF	Bridges from School to Work (Bridges from School to Work, Inc.)	*Bridges from School to Work (Bridges) provides employment services to young adults with significant barriers to employment ages 16-24. Priority populations are youth who are or were in Special Education and opportunity youth with other life challenges. Bridges provides comprehensive job-readiness, job placement and job retention services. Bridges is a real employment agency focused on unsubsidized employment, helping participants find real jobs that match their talents and interests.	Internship
DCYF	Burton High School Pathways and Partnerships (Bayview Hunters Point YMCA)	Aligned to SFUSD's vision and Burton's community school vision, the Bayview Y will oversee the implementation of job readiness training and WBL experiences through Burton's Pathway Program. In Health Science we will establish a subcontractor relationship with FACES for the Future Coalition (FACES) to ensure students are trained/assessed in skills that provide them access to health professions and will support ongoing partnerships. In Engineering and Media Art we will manage Burton's current partnerships and cultivate additional industry partners as needed. We will work with lead teachers to embed our transition into Independent Living Life Skills (ILLS) job readiness curriculum to develop career ready skills and improve social emotional learning. Our team will work side-by-side with Burton staff to provide job readiness training, develop WBL opportunities, train and support employers, monitor student progress and link students to additional support services as needed. We will also support broad implementation of best practices with regard to implicit bias, stereotype threat, growth mindset and asset-based youth development. Family partnership will include information sessions, skill-building workshops and inclusion in program design/evaluation.	Internship
DCYF	Career Pathways Undocumented (CPU) (Bay Area Community Resources)	*Career Pathways for Undocumented youth is a workforce and education program serving youth/TW who are undocumented or lack permanent US citizenship. The program offers job readiness and life skills training, case management, career coaching, academic support, work based learning and immigration advocacy/support. Due to COVID restrictions, programming is offered as a combination of remote and in person services based on the needs of the participants. We are increasing wellness checks, supportive services and office availability to support the complicated barriers youth are currently facing.	Internship
DCYF	Careers in Science Internship Program (California Academy of Sciences)	Over 20 years ago, the Academy created Careers in Science (CS) to help San Francisco high school youth learn science, prepare for college, and explore science careers while developing transferable life and job skills. CS provides a complete continuum of services, from job-readiness training to employment and transition with a focus on postsecondary science education. Interns work year-round, averaging 5-15 hours/week during the school year and 10-24 hours/week in the summer. CS targets disadvantaged youth within groups underrepresented in the sciences: minorities and women.	Internship
DCYF	Code on Point - Coding Bootcamp (Formerly Code Ramp) (Success Center San Francisc	Code on Point is a hybrid Coding bootcamp designed for marginalized young people who lack the access to technology but have an interest in Web Development, Design or Information Technology/Computer Hardware. Success Centers, in partnership with industry professionals offer the Code on Point Phase I program free of charge 300+ hour technology training course. Originally, due to COVID 19 safety, we have incorporated a Learning Management platform, Canvas, to deliver our curriculum in a virtual capacity. However, even when the restrictions have been lifted, we will continue to present the program through the virtual platform since it has shown to be a great tool to further introduce the participants in the tech world. The course prepares students to have a fundamental working knowledge of IT, Design, and Software/Web Development. To be eligible, the participant must be between the ages of 17-24 and interested in learning more about the requisite skills of the tech industry. Laptops and equipment are provided at Code on Point, which covers the basics Information Technology, Fundamentals, Design UX and UI Design, HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Completers will know more about the industry and be prepared for advance training, internships and entry level opportunities. Moreover, completers of the first 16 weeks of Phase I will earn a free laptop to foster continued lifelong learning upon completion of a culminating project.	Internship
DCYF	CYC Career Awareness Pathways to Success (Community Youth Center of San Francisc	The CAPS Program will be tailored to meet individual needs through a project based learning approach combined with a series of workshops and supports that is culturally and linguistically appropriate. Our program will serve a total of 40 youth through 5 cycles of 8 week sessions, serving 8-12 youth per cycle during afterschool and summer. The curriculum is tailor to help middle school aged youth gain and understand a diverse range of career and educational pathways that match their interests and identifying potential future careers. Curriculum topics will be implemented in 1-2 week sessions based on planned activities that include but not limited to: Personal Interest and Aptitude Assessments, Career Research, Connections to Academics, Financial Literacy, Job-Readiness, Education and Post-Secondary Planning, and etc. In addition, the program will incorporate virtual or in person high school and college campus visits, workshop tours, guest speakers, and career fairs to explore their many college and career options. Culminating events will be held to offer youth an opportunity to share their personal portfolio and career plans with their peers, parents and family.	Service Delivery
DCYF	CYC High School Partnerships Program at SF International HS (Community Youth Cent	The High School Partnerships Program at SF International HS equips youth with the knowledge, skills, abilities, and experiences that will prepare them for the world of college and career. Through a close working partnership with the SF International HS, the program will provide all 11th graders with an integration of career readiness curriculum and work-based learning opportunities. Through job shadowing and work-based learning internships, participants will develop skills and competencies needed for future workforce success. We will coordinate career spotlights where guest speakers from different sectors will come share their experiences and pathways to various careers. In addition, academic supports, job readiness and leadership development workshops will be offered to interested youth in all grade levels.	Internship
DCYF	Digital Media Pathways Program (Bayview Hunters Point Center for Arts and Technolo	During the Fall 2021 and Spring 2022, BWCAT Academy is offering paid youth media classes for students to explore and create digital media, from filmmaking to graphic arts. Specifically, students will participate in a variety of program offerings such as The Crew, a part-time job for high school students with advanced skills in filmmaking or graphic arts working with real pro bono clients (businesses, organizations, and nonprofits). We are working towards transitioning to be fully in person by Spring 2022, but for the remainder of 2021 we will work hybrid.	Internship
DCYF	Early College Student Internship (San Francisco Unified School District)	Early College is a joint effort between San Francisco Unified School District and City College of San Francisco to prepare students for post-secondary success before they graduate from high school. Students—both on and off track—will achieve academic and career success when provided with an on-ramp to postsecondary education that is connected to real jobs. We support students to acquire the necessary skills to be successful in college and the service as a liaison between CCF and SFUSD (e.g., administrators, school counselors).	Internship
DCYF	Edible Schoolyard at Willie Mays Boys & Girls Club at Hunters Point (Boys & Girls Clubs	*Happy Moose Juice Program: Happy Moose Juice is a San Francisco based cold-pressed fruit and vegetable juice company. They launched their first Corporate Social Responsibility program geared towards teaching teens at Willie Mays Boys & Girls Club entrepreneurial skills, product development, marketing and sales know-how, and business management. Our High School Services Director has built upon this program to be a leadership program that meets weekly to engage in different activities and workshops in addition to the work and partnership with Happy Moose Juice. Cooking & Gardening: All three DIO Clubhouses offer cooking and gardening programs for members. Cooking programs focus on nutrition, math skills through measurement and recipe creation, and independence through meal preparation. Through our gardening programs youth engage in beautification projects, maintain planters, and learn about horticulture and healthy eating.	Service Delivery

DCYF	ENVISION (Oasis For Girls)	Oasis For Girls ENVISION Program is an 6-10 week long HYBRID career exploration program offered three times a year to 15-18 girls each session. Girls are awarded a stipend for completion of the program. Each cycle begins with an orientation, a mid cycle check in, a program celebration and all program graduation. ENVISION empowers girls to pave paths to successful academic and career goals, understand social justice issues and advocate for change in their communities, and develop confidence, advocacy, and self-care tools for healthy growth through high school and college, the workforce, and beyond. The program includes a medical internship at the UCSF Department of Neurosurgery in partnership with Libelto and one-on-one transition planning after the program graduation to support girls in their professional and academic goals. Specific ENVISION workshop topics include: wage exploitation, interviewing, networking, code switching, resumes, cover letters, time management, mental health, workplace discrimination, post-secondary options like college, financial literacy, and transition plans. Below are some context for why we are beginning this fiscal year with hybrid and moving to in person programming in Spring 2022: Girls' needs and voices by looking at different data to get a pulse on what was needed/needed in girls to sign up for fall summer and struggling with while also understanding the importance for the need for in-person connection. Application data Report and retention was amazing virtually. No more than 3 girls across all 3 programs would drop per cycle as oppose to number of applicants dropped in person was 9-12 per cycle. Number of black and Bayview youth increased virtually. Challenges of location and transportation with Oasis, especially in COVID. We are located in SoMa and need to reconnect with community ambassadors. Logistics of social distancing in spaces for all 3 programs at once. Hybrid would allow each program to have a selected day to have the space talked to Alumni to get their thoughts and feedback. Staff: Needs to be considered risks and challenges for staff, both health-related and connected to coming back into the office, especially for those who relocated or are outside SF during pandemic. Staff know virtual curriculum more than in-person curriculum because many were onboarded then the pandemic hit and one just joined. So easing into in-person structure one day per week makes sense developmentally and will keep the programs high quality and the learning curve manageable.	Internship
DCYF	Experiment In Diversity (EID) (Potrero Hill Neighborhood House)	Experiment In Diversity (EID) is designed to be relevant to the real world while building knowledge and skills young people need for success in life, school and career. Program hours are 4:30pm during the school year, and 9am-5pm during the summer. The students explore post-secondary options, create education plans, and career maps. We visit local businesses and colleges to help students discover unique and interesting career paths. We host AfroMotivational Speakers to expose students to diverse career tracks and help them understand how to achieve career goals. We provide workshops on job readiness skills (i.e., interview skills, resume writing/building, public speaking, leadership, preparation, and civic engagement), and career and educational pathways. We utilize project based learning activities to help assess the students' interests and skills in particular areas and use the findings to address future career opportunities. We engage in service learning projects through our local food pantry to inspire community awareness and to explore community based careers. Additionally, we provide academic support through Afternoon Help-Aid and tutoring services. Our curriculum is intended to help students understand a diverse range of careers, explore how their own knowledge, skills and interests translates into careers opportunities, and promote enhanced levels of learning over short periods of time. DCYF	First Graduate - First Career (First Graduate)	First Graduate, A&S mission of helping students become first generation college graduates seeks to level the playing field for students who are immigrants or children of immigrants, who come from challenging economic circumstances, and who are otherwise disadvantaged in the dominant culture. We provide them with the long term support that their more well off peers receive so that they can be competitive high school and college candidates. And, this long-term investment in their education and exposure to career options sets them on a path to build careers, not just jobs. Education is a right, not a privilege, and we work with students from the summer after sixth grade through college graduation (a 10-12 year journey) to help them attain their degrees and thereby help their families move out of poverty in a single generation. The goal of the First Career program for middle school students is to expose them to the breadth of career opportunities available with a college degree, and expand their thinking about opportunities in the future. This is achieved through year-round advisory lessons that explore values and personal success, professional communication files, connecting interests to careers, creating first resumes, and mock interviews. Our biggest middle school career event is Career Day, involving more than 100 middle school students and about a dozen local companies. Students have visited Gap, Inc., Dropbox, Designjam, Facebook, KQED, Wells Fargo, Google, LinkedIn, Ubisoft, IBM Watson, Salesforce, and Pinterest, among many others. Career Day provides direct hand look at a day in the life of local professionals, helping students picture themselves as future professionals as well with additional funding. First Graduate would like to host another Career Day during the school year, to allow students to visit more companies and be exposed to more industries. We would also like to host a Career Fair during the school year, which would expose students to many career paths through a scavenger hunt followed by Adventuring My Future. Aa an oral presentation where students share their career exploration findings while practicing formal presentations.	Service Delivery

DCYF	High School Explainer Program (Exploratorium)	The Explainer program is an integrated work and learning experience for San Francisco high school students. Explainers began serving as museum docents in 1989, when the Exploratorium opened its doors to the public. In that first year, a single teenage girl described a handful of exhibits to visitors. Today, Explainers work during museum hours, 6 days per week, and the museum provides flexible schedule options to work around high school schedules. Each teen receives a minimum of 144 hours per session of academic enrichment, work-based learning, and pre-professional trainings. We offer a 4-month summer session and an 8-month school term session.	Internship
DCYF	JISE Educator Pathway (Peer Resources)	The Peer Resources JISE Educator Pathway provides a brighter future for today's A&S youth that means future teachers for the next generation. The Educator Pathway is an academic and career pathway, across the entire JISE school community. 9th graders receive leadership training from older peers in the pathway. 10th graders develop career awareness with Peer Mentors, and 11th and 12th graders hone their skills as educator leaders through the academic pathway and work-based learning. Additionally, Peer staff is offering a Peer Resources program providing in-person youth empowerment rooted in healing, equity, anti-oppression and social and emotional learning through two community learning hub sites. DCYF	Job Readiness for English Language Learners (Community Youth Center of San Francis	Job Readiness for English Language Learners (JRELL) assists youth with the knowledge, skills, abilities, and experiences that will prepare them for the world of work. JRELL will provide 3 cohorts, a total of 50, age 16-24, with an integration of a formal curriculum, program approach and work-based learning opportunities. Participants develop skills and competencies needed for future workforce success, including job-seeking and retention skills. Curriculum includes learning goals/objectives, activities that help meet learning goals and objectives, and identification of resources that support the activities. Program activities are sequenced, have specific skill-building goals, and utilize curriculum that trains and offers experiences to successfully prepare participants for the workforce. Participants will also be encouraged to participate in community service projects/events for added work experience. While staff is able to provide the program in a linguistic and culturally acceptable manner, we believe that whenever possible, using English as the language of instruction for programming activities will reinforce language use for the participants and put youth in real life situations that will help them acculturate and become comfortable in being a part of American society. Field trips will also be incorporated to companies of interest.	Internship
DCYF	Juma Ventures - YouthConnect (Juma Ventures)	Juma A&S San Francisco YouthConnect Program is designed to serve Opportunity Youth, defined as youth aged 16-24 who are at risk for disconnection from school and work. YouthConnect is delivered in the context of its Earn, Learn, Connect suite of services: EARN: Youth work in Juma A&S social enterprise concession business at Oracle Park and the Chase Center for the length of a sports season (approximately six to nine months). During their employment, youth develop core competencies in customer services, sales and business operations. Overseen by an Enterprise Manager trained in youth development and growth-minded principles, young people develop critical soft skills such as communication, teamwork, and reliability and have the opportunity to practice these skills in the real-life learning lab provided by the enterprise. LEARN: Alongside the job, youth are supported by Juma A&S Program Coordinators and together they identify and pursue strengths-based, short-term and long-term personal, financial and career goals tracked in an Individual Development Plan, A&S. The plan is focused on helping a young person overcome personal barriers to successful employment, and creating a plan for continuing educational and career advancement. Because the majority of Juma youth are unaware of the opportunities available to them, YouthConnect exposes young people to careers in local high-growth industries by taking them on workplace and education tours, and hosting panels featuring individuals from diverse professions such as advanced manufacturing, healthcare, retail, hospitality, logistics and technology. In addition, youth participate in job search skills workshops such as resume writing and mock interviewing. Leveraging the teachable moment of a first paycheck, Juma A&S financial capability services provide youth the opportunity to develop lifelong money management skills. Under the guidance of Juma A&S Program Coordinators, youth open bank accounts and participate in financial education workshops on topics such as money management, budgeting, saving, financial products, credit and debt, and fraud. CONNECT: To connect youth to their next job and long-term sustained employment, Juma partners with corporations primarily in the retail, hospitality and logistics industries. Juma currently has 13 national anchor partners such as Gap Inc., CVS Health, Starbucks and UPS who demonstrate a commitment to impact hiring and to developing young employees beyond the entry level. Once a young adult is hired, Juma A&S Program Coordinators offer 90 days retention support that takes the form of continued soft skills coaching, help understanding the corporation, A&S career mobility pathways and strengthen communication with supervisors. By ensuring that youth understand the job expectations, manage any budding conflicts, and receive proper training, Juma is able to increase the chances that	Internship

DCYF	Next Gen Tracks (Bay Area Video Coalition)	BANC's Next Gen program is a free, hybrid after-school media arts education program available for San Francisco Bay Area residents ages 14-17 years old. In a new, hybrid environment (with COVID 19 and its variants in mind), participants learn how to tell their own story through audio, video, animation and gaming. Participants gain free access to industry-standard equipment and software in a collaborative environment. Under the instruction of award-winning artists, Next Gen participants receive unparalleled technical training in a creative community of peers, along with opportunities for professional growth and direct access to industry professionals including an opportunity to work on a paid client-based project. Participants present their work at the end of semester culminating with a celebration that will be hosted virtually (or in person, if COVID 19 variants have decreased and allow for such an event). BANC is in the process of moving facilities (October) and will have options for in-person classrooms. We have tested hybrid programming this summer and believe that we can have some hybrid programming (low-contact of 2-3 days in person per semester). We will be planning with our staff and instructors to understand their concerns and plan for a slow opening to in-person programming.	Internship
DCYF	Occupational Therapy Training Program-San Francisco (Special Service for Groups)	OTTP provides youth programming at Buena Vista Horace Mann, Martin Luther King Middle School, Presidio Middle School, and SF Skate Club at their respective sites, with flexibility to serve through virtual platforms as needed due to COVID. OTTP A&S holistic, trauma-informed, strength-based approach embodies the principles of youth development and is embedded into the school day. Career Awareness is conducted as a weekly group with six distinct cohorts each semester (1-2 groups of non-duplicated youth weekly at each site) of 8th, 7th, and 6th graders, for a total of 12 distinct groups over the course of the school year. We support the development of youth A&S knowledge and skills in the educational environment by building competencies in social and interpersonal skills, cognitive skills, emotional coping skills and critical soft skills essential for success at work. Youth are introduced to the world of work through participatory activities to build awareness of career interests and vocational skills, project-based career exploration activities, and guest speakers from a variety of fields. Through engagement in our curriculum, youth acquire soft skills including communicating assertively, teamwork, making decisions based on self-knowledge, and following through on commitments. They also manage time, organize themselves, and learn to utilize community resources. Upon completion, youth share their personal portfolio of self-discovers related to career interests, strengths, values and personality. This portfolio presentation supports the youth in building their strengths-based personal narrative that reinforces positive, pro-social beliefs about themselves and celebrates their vocational interests and goals. The Fellows receive a solid experience and training in working in fields of Climate, Energy, and Zero Waste for the government, while carrying out tasks necessary to meet city sustainability goals. The Department applies to participate in the programs and agrees to pay a match for each fellow, with federal program funding the bulk of Fellows salaries and benefits.	Service Delivery
ENV	Zero Waste and Carbon Fund Grantees	"Zero Waste and San Francisco Carbon Fund Grant Programs. NOTE: Neither of these grantmaking programs are specifically workforce development programs. Zero Waste funds must reduce waste sent to landfill and increase recycling and composting efforts in the City. SF Carbon Fund must be invested in local projects that mitigate and sequester greenhouse gas emissions. While grants are required to go for specific environmental work, the Department has ensured that grants provide co-benefits such as youth and workforce development opportunities. The noted grants provide workforce development for TABs and other adults. The number of clients served through these grants is not tracked, since the funds are legislated to serve other purposes. This year, the department did not award Carbon Fund grants."	Service Delivery

10 Many economic and workforce development analysts prefer to use labor market information at the Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) or Metropolitan Division (MD) level because it is more reliable than county level data and also integrates areas where there may be cross-region commute patterns for workers. The San Francisco-Oakland-Berkeley MSA is further subdivided into the San Francisco-Redwood City-South San Francisco MD which includes San Francisco and San Mateo Counties and covers all City Departments including San Francisco International Airport, a major regional employer.

13 The primary source of data for the vulnerable populations included in the data book is SFHSA's CalWIN system administrative data. The CalWIN system provides for the automated determination of eligibility for public assistance programs and the delivery of program benefits, and its database contains the enrollment and case maintenance data for all individuals receiving public benefits in San Francisco. These public benefits include Medi-Cal, CalFresh (California's version of the federal Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program), County Adult Assistance Programs (CAAP), and CalWORKs (California's version of the federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program). Data were obtained from the CalWIN database for the following vulnerable populations: individuals with limited English proficiency, individuals with disabilities, public benefit recipients, foster youth, transitional aged youth, and older adults. The San Francisco Vulnerable Populations Data Book is available here: <https://www.sfhhsa.org/reports-publications/demographic-analysis-strategic-plans>

14 When accurate and detailed data for populations of interest were not available in the CalWIN database, other data sources were used. Data on public housing residents were obtained from the Housing Authority administrative data, and data on homeless individuals were obtained from the Point-in-Time Homeless Count report developed by the Department of Housing and Supportive Services (HSH).
