Hello again! I want to extend my deepest thanks for your support in helping me advance to the Primaries. Now, as we head towards the General Election on November 5, I need your help more than ever. Your continued support is crucial for us to cross the finish line together. If I haven't yet earned your vote, I hope to earn it through our shared vision for the future.

Instead of dwelling on our differences, let's unite over our shared aspirations. We are all San Franciscans who want the best for our city. We seek economic stability, safe communities, and a bright future for our children. By coming together, we can work towards these common goals and build a stronger, more prosperous San Francisco for everyone.

As we look around, it's evident that our government is not functioning as efficiently or effectively as it should. Wasteful spending is rampant, and taxpayers are footing the bill for inefficiency and mismanagement. But wasteful spending is just one part of the problem. Drugs, crime, and homelessness are also major issues plaguing our communities, particularly here in San Francisco.

As an ordinary citizen, I am deeply committed to making a meaningful change. I believe that true progress comes from leaders who are accountable, transparent, and dedicated to serving the people. If elected, one of my top priorities will be to address these pressing issues head-on. We cannot afford to ignore the devastating impact of drugs, crime, homelessness, and fiscal irresponsibility any longer.
