Name in Chinese Characters

The names of candidates appear on the official ballot in traditional Chinese characters as well as in English. The Department of Elections can provide this transliteration or translation for candidates for local office, or the candidate may provide documentation of established use of a name in Chinese.

If a candidate has a character-based name by birth, that can be verified by birth certificate or other valid identification, the candidate may use that name on the ballot instead of a phonetic transliteration. A candidate who does not have a character-based name by birth, but who identifies by a particular character-based name and can demonstrate that they have been known and identified within the public sphere by that name over the past two years, may use that name instead of a phonetic transliteration.

Check one option (provide supporting documentation):

- I request that the Department of Elections, working with a qualified Chinese-language translator, provide a Chinese transliteration or translation of my name for all materials where it is legally required.
- I am providing documentation of established use of a particular Chinese transliteration or translation of my name for the Department to review. I understand that the Department's decision whether to accept a proposed transliteration or translation is final.
- I have a character-based name by birth and am providing supporting documentation of this name.

How did your parents pick your name?

Dear Sierra,

Popo did not know how my parents picked my name. But in our family, all the girls have the same middle name Li 麗 = 美麗 pretty, and all the boys middle name is Wei 偉 = 偉大 great. Popo's Chinese name is 陳麗娜, in Vietnamese is Tran Le Na. Your parents picked Lena to be your middle name, now you know where it came from.

Your mama's Chinese name is 鄭秀穎 鄭 sounds like Johnson . Coincidentally it also sounds like Jersin, her married name. 秀 = beautiful, elegant, excellent. 穎 = intelligent, clever, outstanding. The name 鄭秀穎 fits your mama perfectly ❤️

Popo also picked a Chinese name for your baba 鄭弘杰 when he married your mama. 弘 = great, grand, magnificent and 杰 = outstanding, prominent. Sierra, you will agree with popo the

Thank you so much for crafting the most tailored ceremony for us — you are so thoughtful & we are so lucky that you officiated our ceremony. My relatives even understood the bits of Chinese you threw in! Impressive!

You and Sierra have such a beautiful love story & I'll never forget the first time I met you when John & I were dating — you said that your biggest piece of advice for relationships was to greet your partner with the same enthusiasm in greeting a puppy! Ha! Definitely will take that to heart.

Much love to you & Si! ♥

We'll see you soon. xoxo, Erica & John

Public school math shaped my family.

My mom grew up in poverty, but a love of math landed her a bank job, and a way out.

My dad was raised by a single mother battling mental illness. But his talent at math led him to open a small CPA business.

As a math-y public school kid, I learned to code. I loved staying up late writing computer games to share with friends. After studying Computer Science at Stanford, I started a company in a storage closet writing algorithms to match people to jobs. LinkedIn bought the company and asked me to lead their core business. I was suddenly a math kid leading an organization of thousands, with a multi-billion dollar budget.

Having kids changed everything. In 2019, I started an education foundation. Now, I want to use my experience to help kids in our schools.

I'm endorsed by our teachers union and leaders across the political spectrum because they know I can fight our schools' financial crisis.

Mayor London Breed
Former Mayor Mark Farrell

TogetherSF Action
Asian Americans Rise
